6-1 Vote For New Marina

By WAT TAKESHITA

A multi-million-dollar marina and residential development along Strawberry Cove won the go-ahead from the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday despite stiff opposition from conservationists. (Other planning commission stories, page 28.)

Clifford M. Pedersen, owner of Clipper Yacht Co., will be allowed to develop 72 apartments, a 160-berth marina, restaurant and cocktail lounge on 20 acres on the southeast side of Strawberry Cove along Seminary Drive.

Pedersen said the restaurant would be of high quality, comparable to the Spinnaker in Sausalito.

On a motion by Niels Schultz Jr., the commissioners approved Pedersen's plan by 6 to 1 vote, with Margaret Azevedo the lone dissenter. She said she approves of the marina-restaurant portion of the plan but cannot justify filling of shoreline for residential.

108 APARTMENTS

Directly to the north, Belvedere developer Leonard B. Fleischman plans 108 marina apartments on seven acres of land along Seminary Drive near De Silva Island. His plan won approval by 7 to 0 vote on a motion by Niels Schultz Jr.

Planning commissioners imposed several conditions on both developers, requiring them to set aside areas for public access and open view. Pedersen will provide almost 3,000 feet of public pathway encircling his waterfront facility and other open areas totalling about three acres. He will also have a public fishing pier.

Fleischman agreed to extend the pathway from the Pedersen property through his development along Seminary Drive and offered other strips for public access including a pathway leading to the promontory that juts out toward De Silva Island.

Stephen H. Kaufmann, representing the Strawberry Recreation District, supported the Fleischman proposal but criticized Pedersen's commercial facilities.

"Now we have commercial or even industrial use--a restaurant and booze emporium," Kaufmann charged. "Such encroachments should not be allowed in a residential area."

Mrs. P. K. Gilman, representing the Marin Conservation League, charged that the marina and the fill and pilings will interfere with wildlife in the cove.

ALSO COMPLAIN

Representatives of the Marin Rod and Gun Club and the Sierra Club also complained that the developments are not compatible with the wildlife in the area.

They were joined by Pieter S. Myers of Belvedere, who identified himself as an artist-photographer. He insisted that the Bay Plan proposed by the Bay Conservation and Development Commission gives top priority to Strawberry Cove as a wildlife sanctuary.

He challenged Chairman Michael Praszker's statement that the cove was an unattractive mudflat that would be enhanced by the waterfront development.

Marshland and pickleweed are the most important part of a shoreline, said Myers. "You can talk yourself into believing this is good development, but you don't think of the basic loss of the shoreline."

Angry White Mob Attacks Two Buses

School In Lamar, S.C., Scene Of Racial Tension

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An angry white mob turned over two school buses loaded with Negro children at a newly-desegregated school at Lamar, S.C., today and attacked law enforcement officers with ax handles, chains and bricks.

A force of South Carolina highway patrolmen battled the whites with nightsticks before dispersing them with tear gas. Authorities said the mob of about 150 white men and women tried to attack Negro children getting off the buses, but police managed to keep the students from being beaten.

The violence was the worst reported in the South since the region began complying in January with federal court orders for total desegregation. Darlington County, which includes Lamar, was the second South Carolina county placed under such an order.

An aide to Gov. Robert E. McNair said the governor was considering calling out the National Guard to protect the school, Lamar High. The school, meanwhile, was ordered closed and McNair said it would stay closed until "action is taken to restore order and calm in the area."

The governor's office said the mob attacked law enforcement officers with "chains, spikes, bricks, ax handles and rocks." The governor's office said there was a report that a shot was fired into the air by one member of the mob but no one was hit.

"Several injuries were inflicted upon the officers, students and those participating in the confrontation," McNair's office said. It added that the officers reportedly "had to draw weapons to defend themselves, but no shots were fired."

Lamar, a cotton and tobacco-growing center in the eastern section of South Carolina, had been the scene of white student boycotts for weeks. About 300 blacks recently enrolled at formerly all-white Lamar High, but none of 130 whites complied with court orders for their transfer to an all-black school.

Nixon Calls For A New Study Of U.S. Education

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring that "American education is in urgent need of reform," President Nixon asked Congress today to set up a new agency to conduct research and experimentation in that field.

In a special message, Nixon said the country needs "a searching re-examination of our entire approach to learning."

He said:

"We must stop pretending that we understand the mystery of the learning process or that we are significantly applying science and technology to the techniques of teaching—when we spend less than one-half of 1 per cent of our educational budget on research, compared with 5 per cent of our health budget and 10 per cent of defense."

To spearhead an expanded research effort, Nixon called for creation of a National Institute of Education within the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The NIE eventually would take over existing research programs from the Office of Education.

Noting that his budget for the 1971 fiscal year that starts July 1 calls for $312 million for educational research—an increase of $67 million—Nixon said money to carry on the work of the institute he proposes would be in addition to that.

In other areas, Nixon said he was establishing by executive order a President's Commission on School Finance with a two-year lifetime, to develop recommendations on the fiscal and organizational needs of both public and private schools in the United States.

"Because we have neglected to plan how we will deal with school finance," he said, "we have great instability and uncertainty in the financial structure of education."

He cited as a "cause for national concern" the gap in educational spending between rich and poor states and school districts.

Discussing the problems of parochial and other schools, Nixon said their financial difficulties are to be "a particular assignment of the commission" because, he said, if all private schools were to close or turn public, the burden on public funds by the end of the 1970s would exceed $4 billion a year.

Nixon endorsed "the right to read as a national educational goal for the 1970s and said he will soon ask Congress for $200 million to promote reading programs in both public and private schools.

The chief executive also called for a three-year renewal of the federal charter of the Corporation For Public Broadcasting but said a portion of the corporation's federal funding should be based on matching contributions from private sources.

BONDS VOTING AT SLOW PACE IN PETALUMA

Voting got off to a slow start today in the $1 million Petaluma bond election. Polls remain open until 8 p.m.

In sampling four of the 16 polling places, voter turnout was reported as very light in all areas by midmorning. The polling station at city hall reported 28 out of 344 had voted and the Kenilworth Recreation Center had 30 of the 750 eligible casting ballots.

Late tallies at Valley Vista School showed 34 voters while McDowell School had 42 voters.

A total of 9,648 is registered to vote. The bond election includes $200,000 for a new fire station and $800,000 for street improvements and a second overcrossing of Highway 101.

March On Embassy In Manila

MANILA (UPI) — Filipino troops standing up in their jeeps and firing automatic weapons tonight turned back a march on the U.S. Embassy by a mob of 2,000 student demonstrators who hurled explosive-filled bottles. Some students fired back.

The 2,000 hard core students were part of a crowd of 12,000 students and striking jeepney (small bus) drivers, who gathered in the heart of the city in an antigovernment demonstration after snakedancing through slum districts and crowded Chinatown.

It was impossible to determine if the police and government troopers were firing into the air or in earnest. One demonstrator was treated for gunshot wounds in the hip. Some of the students arrested by police were armed with hand grenades and pistols.

It was the third march on the merican Embassy in 13 days.

Tracer bullets streaked through the skies over downtown Manila and the explosions of the bottles —called Molotov bombs —broke store and business windows.

The number of those arrested and the number wounded were not immediately known. Philippine General Hospital reported treating seven persons for tear gas poisoning and one from a gunshot wound. Another suffered a fractured skull.

Two UPI news photographers and a Filipino newsfilm cameraman were injured.

Another 50,000 Troop Cut Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 50,000 troops may be ordered from South Vietnam under a fourth round of withdrawals to be announced by the Nixon administration before April 15, Pentagon sources said today.

At the Capitol today, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird was asked about a published report that the Joint Chiefs of Staff have approved plans for pulling out up to 70,000 troops in the next withdrawal phase.

"There is not even a piece of paper floating around the Pentagon with that figure," Laird replied.

President Nixon will announce a substantial troop withdrawal in April, Laird said, but said he would not jeopardize the credibility of the Defense Department by predicting now a troop withdrawal larger than what might actually be announced.

The precise recommendation may not be settled upon until early April to give military planners more time to assess enemy activities.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has told Congress that "additional thousands" of U.S. servicemen can be brought home this year, but he was not more specific in his request.

Laird recently returned from an inspection trip to South Vietnam and reported that he found the program for turning over the war to the Vietnamese to be progressing well.

A report carried today by the Los Angeles Times said Marines would make up the bulk of the next pullout.

Marine Corps sources said they knew of no decision having been made at this point to trim the present Marine contingent in Vietnam by 43,000, as the story indicated.

These officers acknowledged, however, that such plans would be closely held at the Joint Chiefs of Staff level prior to a public announcement.

Pulling out 50,000 to 70,000 troops over the next five months would maintain the monthly rate of withdrawals made thus far by the Nixon administration.

It would bring to as many as 175,000 the number of men ordered withdrawn since Nixon

Leak Of Report On Racial Ideas Angers Nixon's Top Urban Expert

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House adviser Daniel P. Moynihan, angered over the leak of a private memo to the President, says he regrets using the phrase "benign neglect" to describe his plan to reduce public discussion of racial issues.

The chief White House expert on urban affairs told reporters Monday his choice of words to describe his plan was "doubtless to my regret."

Negro and civil rights leaders sharply criticized the plan after it became public over the weekend.

Moynihan, who said the memo was strictly a private communication to the President, hinted the document may have been stolen.

"I wish people didn't have to feel the only thing that was important was what they could steal, but that sometimes is what people think."

Moynihan, whose earlier writing on black family structure drew heavy criticism from many blacks, said in the memo "the time may have come when the issue of race could benefit from a period of benign neglect.

"The subject has been too much talked about. The forum has been too much taken over by hysteria, paranoids and boodlers on all sides. We may need a period in which Negro progress continues and racial rhetoric fades.

"The administration can help bring this about by paying close attention to such progress—as we are now doing—while seeking to avoid situations in which extremists of either race are given opportunities for martyrdom, heroics, histrionics or whatever."

A spokesman for Urban League Director Whitney M. Young Jr. said: "Moynihan's memo is one more example of a systematic effort on both the federal and state levels to wipe out all of the gains made in the 1950s and 1960s."

Rep. Louis Stokes, a Negro congressman from Ohio, said "again we are confronted with the continued ineptness which flows from white people relying on white people to advise them on the affairs of the black people."

He said such a policy would have a "devastating" effect on race relations.

He warned that this was the last thing needed when it was vital to maintain gains that Negroes have made.

"If we let it happen again," he said, "well, dammit, there's something wrong with it."

Successor To Shriver Picked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today President Nixon will nominate Arthur K. Watson, chairman of the overseas operations of International Business Machines, to succeed R. Sargent Shriver as ambassador to France.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler confirmed a published report that the 51-year-old businessman is Nixon's choice for the Paris post.

Ziegler said a formal exchange of letters between Nixon and Shriver will be made public following the return to France of President Georges Pompidou.

Shriver submitted his resignation some months ago.

Watson is a skilled linguist who has been decorated by nine countries, including France, which awarded him the Legion of Honor.

Doctors Say LBJ's Pains Not Serious

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson—stricken with chest pains—was reported in excellent spirits today. Doctors said they were "quite satisfied" with his condition.

The doctors said Johnson had experienced some chest pains since entering the Army's Brooke General Hospital here Monday, but the physicians said they were minor and had not been persistent.

Army Col. Robert North, chief of cardiology at the hospital, said there had been "no serious problems of any sort."

North said he expects the former president to remain hospitalized for "at least several days," and predicted that Johnson will be able to continue his active life.

"We plan to prescribe a program of physical activity when he leaves," said North, one of at least three Army doctors attending Johnson, at least one of whom is present at all time.

The doctor called Johnson's sieges of chest pains over the weekend "another manifestation of his cardiac problem that he has had for the past 15 years."

The former president suffered a major heart attack in 1955. North stressed that there were no indications of a heart attack this time.

When Johnson entered his special penthouse suite on top of the hospital, physicians said they noted a minor change in his electrocardiograms, which provide a record of heart movements.

A major heart attack felled Johnson in 1955 when he was Senate majority leader. He was 46 at the time.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Drop In ROTC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reserve Officer Training Corps enrollment dropped more than 25 per cent in 1969, apparently reflecting increased hostility toward ROTC on some college campuses.

The Pentagon said Monday that the drop of 56,471 from the 1968 enrollment of 212,417 was chiefly caused by the fact that 49 colleges and universities no longer require compulsory ROTC training.

Undersea Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign scientists and women will be invited to participate in an undersea living experiment called Tektite 2, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel has announced.

Teams will stay underwater for 14 to 20 days. The experiments will be conducted in the waters of Great Lameshur Bay off St. John Island in the Virgin Islands from April 1 to Oct. 30.

Scientists from Japan, Britain, France, Australia, Canada and West Germany have volunteered for the project, Hickel said. Neither the female team nor the international team has been chosen, he added.

Cuba Free Boat

MIAMI (AP) — An American treasure-hunting vessel seized at gunpoint by a Cuban patrol boat has been freed to leave the Communist island and the skipper's wife said she was informed it had sailed for home.

The Swiss Embassy in Havana sent word that the Jocelyn-C, captained by Stan Carlson of East Orleans, Mass., was released Monday 24 hours after it was boarded, the State Rpartment said.

Moon Dust Back

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A stolen vial of moon dust has been recovered undamaged from a mailbox by police tipped off by an anonymous telephone caller.

Dr. George Wetherill of the University of California at Los Angeles, to whom the sample was assigned by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Monday the two-inch vial had not been tampered with.

Suez Attacks

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes attack Egyptian army positions along the northern sector of the Suez Canal for an hour today, then returned safely, the Israeli military command said.

A senior Israeli military officer said the situation on Israel's border with Lebanon "is becoming quite grave" because the Arabs have increased their sabotage activities.

He said that since mid-February there have been 23 incidents and all but three or four involved "crossing into Israeli territory" to blow up buildings and pipelines.

Pollution Charge

SALINAS (AP)—Fort Ord and the cities of Pacific Grove and Seaside are charged with polluting Monterey Bay with sewage. They face possible fines of up to $6,000 a day.

The state filed suit Monday in Monterey County Superior Court accusing the vast military base and the nearby cities of violating water quality standards.

Vicki Expecting

HADDONFIELD, N.J. (AP) —Tiny Tim's 17-year-old wife, the former Vicki Budinger, says they are expecting a baby in September.

They were married on the televised Johnny Carson "Tonight" show last Dec. 18.

The long-haired, falsetto voiced singer and his bride received confirmation of the pregnancy from a doctor in January, she said Monday.

Now A Mercedes

LONDON (AP) — Beatle John Lennon and his Japanese wife, Yoko Ono, who formerly rode around in a Rolls Royce painted in a psychedelic design, have acquired a white Mercedes-Benz limousine 20½ feet long.

The car cost $33,000, including $7,200 worth of such extras as a radio telephone and a battery of equipment for producing stereophonic music.

Curfew Still On

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — A night curfew remained in effect in troubled Isla Vista today but sheriff's officers said they were hopeful that no further violence would erupt in the community adjacent to the University of California campus.

The last of a National Guard force that at one point numbered 600 men was withdrawn Monday and the streets were quiet Monday night compared with three nights of rampaiging protests last week.

Sheriff James W. Webster described the departure of the guard as "a return to reality," saying it was obvious "the guard can't stay here forever."

Housing Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cooperative real estate development firm that planned golf courses, swimming pools and riding stables for its projects was given $270 million from a federal program designed to back moderate-income housing, Congress has been told.

The General Accounting Office said in a report $270 million, amounting to a third of the money allocated the Federal Housing Administration for the program, went to five cooperative housing communities being developed by Rossmoor Leisure World.

The GAO charged no legal wrongdoing in the FHA program, designed to insure mortgages and thus reduce costs for the cooperatively owned, moderate-income housing. But the report criticized FHA handling of the mortgage insurance.

Vietnam Action

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners shot down three more American helicopters Monday, while 156 of the enemy and five Americans were reported killed in other action across South Vietnam.

One American was killed and six were wounded in the three helicopters. One went down near the Laotian border 19 miles south of the demilitarized zone, a second near the Cambodian border 90 miles northeast of Saigon, and the third 15 miles northwest of Hue.

This raised to 6,459 the number of American aircraft reported lost in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

Dinner Brings Glow To Nixon, Pompidou

NEW YORK (AP) — Both President Nixon and Georges Pompidou said Monday they were pleased with the result of Nixon's hurried trip to New York to offer his apology for any discourtesy to the French president by Americans.

Nixon's gesture on the last night of Pompidou's eight-day state visit appeared to have eased ill feeling resulting from demonstrations over France's agreement to sell 110 jets to Libya while refusing to release 50 to Israel.

Nixon brought cheers and laughter at a dinner for Pompidou when he said he had wanted the French leader to see the United States as an American president does—"And I must say we overdid it a bit as we usually do."

Pompidou, who had been angered over what he termed insults to himself and his wife during a pro-Israel demonstration in Chicago, responded by praising Nixon and saying it was a "very great joy" to be at the dinner.

Holding a glass of champange at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel dinner for 1,600 persons sponsored by Franco - American groups, President Nixon exclaimed: "Vive la France!"

Pompidou beamed as Nixon spoke and replied in a toast: "In spite of all, allies and friends."

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler told newsmen on the flight back to Washington that Nixon was "quite pleased" with Pompidou's response to his gesture and the dinner.

Black Studies Department Runs Into A Legal Snarl

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco State College has notified all six members of its Black Studies Department faculty that they have not been reappointed for the school year starting next September — but they could be rehired before then, a college spokesman said.

The notices mailed Saturday were necessary "to protect the college in living up to its legal responsibilities," said Donald Garrity, vice president for academic affairs.

Had they not been sent, he explained Monday, the six would have automatic reappointment without the usual review by the college administration.

Garrity said the Black Studies Department "failed to forward its reappointment recommendations to my office in time to allow the required review" before the deadline, March 1.

He added that the department faculty also "continued to refuse to meet with the administration on this and other personnel matters."

The action does not "preclude reappointment of any single individual, or of all the individuals who were sent such letters," Garrity said.

There was no immediate comment from the six teachers — Miss Pat Thornton, Wilmette Brown, Lucille Jones, Woodrow Jones, Jesse Sims, and Randolph Taylor.

The department has no head, but Sims and Taylor have been acting coordinators of the department set up last fall.

Establishment of the department was an issue in a violent four-month strike that ended at the campus a year ago.

Registration in the department was 881 last month, the college reported, compared with a high of 1,204.

Bay 'Rebuttal' To Ax Handles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bill Forney, a Negro furniture store owner, passed out autographed ax handles in front of the federal building Monday as a 'rebuttal" to Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia.

Forney, 50, who said he wanted to show "it is not only the kids that can get uptight about something," referred to Maddox' passing out ax handles in the restaurant of the House of Representatives in Washington last week.

"As much as I abhor such a man, I defend his freedom to enter and to be served in restaurants throughout the width and breadth of the land, although he would deny me mine," Forney said in a brief mimeographed statement he handed out with the ax handles.

10 Rescued From Baja Floodwaters

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A Coast Guard helicopter from San Diego has rescued 10 Californians from an 18-hour ordeal with swirling, muddy Baja California floodwattrs, 110 miles south of San Diego.

Up to 40 more American campers were reported still stranded today but in no danger.

U.S. Consulate officials in Tijuana, Mexico, said scouting parties "have assured us that there seems to be no serious injuries or deaths."

INTO AREA

Squads of Mexican soldiers, state public works crews and officers of the Mexican Tourist Ministry in four-wheel drive vehicles and on foot were ordered into the area today.

Jenny Sumner, 10, was among three mothers and seven children brought out by helicopter Monday night. Clutching her arithmetic book and sipping orange juice, she said:

"The rain blew in off the gulf late Saturday night. It was frightening, howling with heavy winds."

Jenny, daughter of Marine Capt. D. W. Sumner, was a camping guest of the Donald Brown family from El Toro, Calif.

"If these men from the Coast Guard hadn't come when they did, we would have been in rough shape," said Mrs. Brown, holding hands with her sons, Larry, 5, and Arnold, 2.

ALSO RESCUED

Also rescued were Mrs. David Ogilvie, her two daughters, Sandra, 4, Carolyn, 6, and son, David, 5 months, also from El Toro, and Mrs. Ray Calbert and her son, Todd, 4, of nearby La Mesa.

Their husbands stayed behind until they can drive their vehicles out of the camping grounds 10 miles north of San Vicente.

A Coast Guardsman said it was a tough job finding the stranded groups of people.

"It was tough down there, man," the guardsman said.

"Just finding the people was almost an impossibility. They were scattered all along tht coast and stranded even from each other by the lakes and rivers of sand, mud and water."

Pesticide's Ban Tie Up By Finch

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Food and Drug Administration recommendation backing up an earlier White House directive to ban a pesticide linked to birth defects in mice and rats is pigeonholed in the office of Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch.

The FDA memorandum written late last December would precipitate cancellation of government registration of the potent chemical 2,4,5-T.

Aides to the secretary contend the recommendation from FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards is based on now-outdated information and is invalid because the manufacturer's request that prompted it has been withdrawn.

DIRECTED BAN

White House science adviser Lee A. DuBridge Oct. 29 directed the Department of Agriculture to ban the chemical by Jan. 1 unless the FDA had in the meantime established a safe residue level on foods.

DuBridge acted in response to a government-contracted study that linked feeding of the chemical to birth defects in laboratory rats and mice.

Other reports blame heavy use of 2,4,5-T as a defoliant in South Vietnam for an epidemic of human miscarriages and birth defects.

DuBridge's order has not been carried out, the Agriculture Department says, because the FDA and HEW have failed to forward any recommendation on safe residue levels for 2,4,5-T in foods.

IMPOSSIBLE NOW

For their part, aides to Finch say no recommendation is possible until further laboratory investigations are completed. They complain DuBridge overstepped his authority and knowledge in setting the Jan. 1 deadline.

The additional investigations were prompted, according to an FDA fact sheet, by the finding of significant amounts of an impurity called dioxin in the 2,4,5-T that caused birth defects in the laboratory animals. The impurity must be ruled out as the cause of the birth defects.

But some restive FDA officials argue Finch should act against the defoliant on the basis of present doubt alone.

Pollution Watchdog Satellite Duties?

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Air and water pollution can be monitored effectively and traced to the source by survey satellites being developed by the United States, researchers reported today.

Two teams of researchers who are testing camera and sensor systems for the satellites, the first of which will bt launched in March 1972, made their report to an Earth Conference.

A team from Barringer Research Limited, Rexdale, Ontario, Canada, said it had successfully tested sensors in planes and on balloon flights.

A group from the Masachusetts Institute of Technology and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's electronics research center reported results of an airborne test of satellite sensors along the northeast coast of the United States. It said:

"The application with the broadest current user interest is detecting elements of water pollution, tracing them to their source, and in measuring the dispersion and concentration of the pollutants."

To illustrate, the MIT-NASA team showed a picture of Massachusetts Bay, near Salem, and identified a plume-like image as the flow from a combined sanitary and storm sewer and a smaller plume as a surface slick created by a power plant coolant.

The Canadian team reported on a balloon flight it conducted to an altitude of 114,000 feet over Chicago last Sept. 3.

The balloon carried spectrometers to measure sulphur dioxide and nitrogen dioxide, two major constituents of air pollution. A station wagon equipped with similar sensors followed the approximate path of the balloon.

The report said the balloon sensors recorded a higher-than-normal concentration of sulphur dioxide in the Chicago area because of an air inversion condition.

After the balloon drifted over Lake Michigan, the report said, "sulphur dioxide levels were negligible.

Marin Artists' Show To Open

The Marin Society of Artists Black and White show will open a 20-day run Friday in the Marin Art and Garden Center gallery in Ross.

The show, featuring all media, will be open from 2 to 4 p.m. daily until March 28.

Alto Center Protests Over Poor Drainage

The flurry came as the council held a public hearing on the Alto Center segment of the 701 plan, which will chart the direction in which the city hopes to move.

Several residents complained that filling of land has compounded drainage problems. "I've lived on my property for 28 years," said Mrs. Frank W. Gamble of 62 Shell Road, "and not until four years ago did I have any flooding.

"Now, the water comes at us from four different directions," she added.

Mrs. Benjamin F. Wheeler of 84 Lomita Drive urged the council to "solve this (drainage) problem before you take on the new responsibilities" of a commercial development on the Alto Center area.

A suggestion by Harvey E. Bragdon, Mill Valley planning director, that the property "might be suitable for hotel and motel or even for high-rise apartment construction because of its proximity to the highway" drew criticism from the audience.

Phillip Williams advised the council "to go to the Santa Cruz Mountains to see what commercial development has done to them.

"All we need are more shopping centers and high-rises," he said. "We don't want billboards and shacks like they have."

Councilman Edward J. Boessenecker said that "this area (Alto Center) is the ugliest place in Mill Valley. It looks like someone is starting a garbage dump there."

He said that he agreed with Williams that the site should not be used for high-rise apartments.

Mayor Dean N. Meyer acknowledged the concern for drainage problems and set a special meeting March 30 at 8 p.m. at city hall to discuss "and perhaps adopt" the 701 plan.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

ZONING—Rezoned the property at 91 East Blithedale Avenue from professional administrative to commercial general to permit construction of retail sales and services stores.

SEWER—Voted to request county permission to assess property outside the city limits for the Cascade-Lovell Sanitary Sewer Assessment District.

NUISANCE—Heard a report from Stanley M. Bala, city engineer, that a nuisance at 11 Eton Way had abated and required no city action.

PARKS—Agreed to set rules concerning the city's parks and recreation areas.

GARBAGE—Set a new fee schedule for garbage and rubbish collection.

ELECTION—Designated 10 polling places and appointed election officers for the April 14 election.

FERN CANYON—Directed a letter be sent to the Marin Municipal Water District stating the council's policy that Fern Canyon Road not be extended beyond its present terminus to Panoramic Highway.

SLIDE—Directed the Department of Public Works to post warning signs along paths on the top of the Miller Avenue slide.

FENCE—Authorized City Engineer Bala to drill post holes and install retaining fencing around the lower part of the Miller Avenue slide and to open two lanes of the street to auto traffic.

DEL CASA—Directed a letter be sent to property owners on Del Casa Drive requesting they keep the road in repair.

WATER—Authorized the city to enter an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District to extend a six-inch fireline along Manor Drive for a total cost of $6380, half of which would be paid by the city and half by the district.

INVENTORY—Heard a request from Norton R. Hastings of 100 Quarry Road to inventory open spaces in the city with the intention of designating which are to remain undeveloped.

POLLUTION—Continued to March 16 a staff report on creek pollution.

PARKS AND RECREATION—Accepted the resignation of Sarah Ann Davis from the parks and recreation commission because of meeting day conflicts. Mayor Meyer said he would nominate Peggy Spencer for the post at the March 16 meeting.

WILLIAMS—Heard council candidate Phillip E. Williams say that he had been a resident of Mill Valley since September 1969. City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said he would confer with the city clerk on the possibility of removing Williams' name from the ballot since council candidates are required to live in the city for a year prior to election.

OUTFALL—Reaffirmed the city's policy that sewage outfall be moved from Richardson Bay to Tennessee Cove and stated that the city would like to join an agency to build trunk lines and a treatment plant to accomplish this.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until March 16 at 8 p.m. in the council chambers, in memory of William P. Feeney, whom Vice Mayor Robert H. Andreson called "the sixth member of the council for many years."

Housing Agency Revisions Eyed

A plan to separate the administration and boards of the housing authority and redevelopment agency of Marin County will be discussed by both organizations today at 8 p.m. in Room 400 of the Marin County Civic Center.

According to Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of both the authority and redevelopment agency, both groups currently have the same administration and overlapping board members.

Stutsman said the separation proposal has been endorsed by various organizations in Marin County, including the Marin Council for Civic Affairs and the Marin County Central Labor Council.

More Garbage Cans Are Asked

The Bolinas Community Inc. board has voted to ask the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department for three additional garbage cans for the beach and tennis court areas, according to Capt. David Edwards, board secretary.

The board also requested Friday that garbage be picked up Monday and Friday, instead of Wednesday and Friday, to handle the accumulation of trash on weekends, Edwards said.

The board will hold its next regular meeting March 27 at 8 p.m. at the community center.

YMCA Sets Trip To Disneyland

The Marin Young Men's Christian Association will sponsor its annual co-ed trip to Disneyland for high school students March 23-27.

The bus trip will include a night in Santa Barbara, a day on Southern California beaches, and a day and three nights at Disneyland.

Reagan To Announce Reelection Candidacy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan will announce his candidacy for reelection to a second term at 3:30 p.m. on March 10 at a special press conference in the Hotel Mirador.

The conference was billed officially as Reagan's announcement of his decision on whether to seek a second term, but since it is being followed by two statewide tours during the following days, there was little doubt about his dicision.

Teachers Face Jobs Lottery In Novato

A lottery to determine the order in which 18 employees in the Novato Unified School District will be laid off in a reduction in staff for next year will be held at 4 p.m. next Tuesday in the science room of San Marin High School.

Due to probable lack of federal funds next school year, the district will reduce personnel from 522 persons this year to 504 next year, said Deputy Supt. Ralph Giovanniello.

It will take the 45 teachers most recently hired and draw their names to determine the order in which they will be let go from the district, he said. The last names drawn will be the first offered positions if the district does not have to let them all go.

Supt. James G. Bunker said that he hoped that routine resignations and retirements would make it possible to avoid laying anyone off.

Those to be let go include: Three junior high school teachers, three speech and sight teachers, two teachers of the educationally and mentally retarded, one elementary librarian, two psychologists, two senior high school counselors, three junior high school counselors, one curriculum teacher and two nurses.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

FINANCIAL REPORTS — Heard a report from Bunker that the board members should not make public disclosure of their financial holdings until the legislature passes a new law on disclosure.

ACCREDITATION — Received a report that an accreditation team from the Western Association of Universities and Colleges would visit Novato High School for its five-year accreditation March 9 through 11.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION — Heard a report that vocationally trained students at both Novato and San Marin high schools were able to get jobs immediately after leaving school.

RETIREMENT — Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Johnnie Guthrie effective at the end of the school year, as first grade teacher at Lu Sutton School. She has taught 16 years in the Novato district.

CLOSED MEETING — Held a half-hour closed meeting to hear charges against an employee, but took no action.

Loot Left Behind

A ransacking thief may have been frightened away before drilling open the office safe at the Bud Monti Mobil Service Station, 600 Fourth Street, late Saturday or early Sunday, San Rafael police reported yesterday. Drills and drill motors were found in front of the safe, police said, but there were no marks on the safe.

Dog Club Wins Round Following A Few Snarls

An old, but not forgotten bone was tossed to the Corte Madera Town Council last night by the Marin County Dog Training Club, resulting in snarls and snaps between councilmen.

The club received approval from the town's parks and recreation commission in January for two dog shows in the Town Park. It applied in February to the town council for use of a sound system at the obedience trials, but mistakenly omitted one date. After lengthy discussion in February, dominated by strong opposition from Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, the council approved the request 3-2.

Realizing its omission, the dog club applied last night for sound system permission for the previously forgotten date.

Colthurst once more jumped at the opportunity to express his views on park use.

"This is a park, not a fairground," he said. "We might become known as the dog show capital of Northern California."

"Parks are for people, not dog shows," the mayor said.

"What about the art shows," Wagstaff questioned.

"Dog owners are people," Councilman Robert P. Simmons chimed in.

"I agree with the mayor on using parks for dogs," said Councilman Byron D. White. "I think dogs belong in their place."

Both Colthurst and White admitted they really liked dogs, but not in public parks.

After a long discussion on the possible problems of cleaning up after such a show, the council was again presented with the actual request, whether a sound system could be employed.

Realizing that a sound system had little to do with the asthetic merits of a dog show, the council approved 3 -2 the request, thus burying the well-gnawed bone.

The Corte Madera Town Council Also:

LIBRARY—Approved preliminary plans for a new library at Meadowsweet Drive and Sanford Street. The plans now go to the board of supervisors.

ANNEXATION—Set April 28 for the special election on the Lucky Drive annexation after a hearing that produced no protest.

PARK RULES—Referred to the council's attorney proposed rules and ordinance amendments recommended by the town's parks and recreation commission on use and misuse of the town's recreational facilities.

RESIGNATION—Accepted the resignation of James Wieder from the parks and recreation commission.

RESIDENCE—Approved unanimously changes in the town's employee residence requirement which will allow some emergency personnel to live anywhere in East Marin.

PRECINCTS—Approved unanimously establishment of five polling stations for the April 14 municipal election.

FILL PERMIT—Denied a fill permit by Vernon Humber, claiming any further extension of the fill area located on the Highway 101 East Frontage Road, north of Tamalpais Drive, could cause flood problems next winter.

CREEK ORDINANCE—Advised Colthurst to maintain the position that landowners first and cities second should be responsible for the maintenance of Corte Madera Creek in issue proposed for study by the Ross Valley Flood Control Zone.

MEETING—Adjourned until the next regular meeting March 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Auto Off Road; Two Injured

Arlette Cox, 55, of 1645 Mar West, Tiburon, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries received in a one-car accident yesterday while eastbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, 1.5 miles west of Samuel P. Taylor State Park.

Mrs. Cox, a passenger in a car driven by Mary Ann Arlott, 43, of 23 Fairfax Avenue, San Rafael, suffered a concussion, broken right arm and multiple scrapes.

Mrs. Arlott was admitted to the hospital with cuts and scrapes of the head, but released yesterday afternoon.

The highway patrol said the Arlott car went off the road, hit a concrete culvert and came to rest in a ditch. The accident occurred at 2 a.m.

Domino Tourney Sets New Look

Katharine Branson School's annual Fathers' Domino Tournament will have a new look this year.

The tournament, scheduled for Saturday at the school, will feature both bridge and domino play, allowing wives to join their husbands in what had previously been an all-male tournament.

Play will begin at 10 a.m. Lunch will be served at 1 p.m. with the finals to follow. The tournament is held annually to raise money for the senior class gift to the school.

Plea Is Made In Holdup Case

John Charles Batts, 18, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of holding up a San Anselmo service station attendant Feb. 11 and having a switchblade knife and hypodermic needle on Feb. 15.

A jury trial was set for the week of April 27.

Strobe Light Taken From Novato School

Hill Junior High School was entered sometime Friday night or Saturday morning and a strobe light, valued at $125, and aproximately, $2 in cash were taken, Novato police reported yesterday.

During the weekend, six windows were also broken at Rancho School, police reported.

Parents Rap Discipline In Novato

Complaints of lack of discipline at Rancho Elementary School were raised last night at the Novato Unified School District board meeting.

A special meeting was set for 8 p.m., March 12 at Rancho School for parents to meet with fifth and sixth grade teachers and Principal Rex Rolle to discuss the problems.

It started with a complaint by Betty Machado of 1424 Dawes Street, about swimming on a field trip on Feb. 4, she charged that fifth grade teacher Gary Mortensen went swimming in a reservoir on Big Rock Ridge with some of the students. Board President Marett Bossevain said Mortensen had been reprimanded.

Mrs. Machado also wanted to disucss lack of discipline at the school, but was told that she was out of order because she had not arranged that it be on the agenda.

Approximately 15 parents said that they had come to the meeting to complain about discipline.

Supt. James G. Bunker said a letter would be sent to all fifth and sixth grade parents at the school so they could air their complaints at the March 12 meeting.

The same subject will come up before the Rancho Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 8 p.m. on March 19 at the school, Bunker usaid.

Mrs. Machado called a meeting of parents to discuss the swimming with the principal and teachers on Feb. 19 She said that about 60 parents showed up but not the principal nor teachers, so she took the matter directly to the board.

Boissevain reminded her that her request was specifically on the field trip; the matter of discipline at the school would have to come through channels. If the parents could not come to an understanding with teachers and the principal at the two meetings, then the board would hear it at a future board meeting.

Larkspur Hires New Assistant

Harlan Barry, 31, of 32 Monte Vista Avenue, Larkspur, was hired effetcive yesterday as administrative assistant mannager, Kent B. Bathurst, city manager, has announced.

Barry replaces Robert C. Bundy who moved to Merced.

Barry has been in the insurance business for the last seven years. A graduatt of the University of California, he is married and has two children.

As administrative assistant, he will be paid $974 a month.

Fortified Police Stations Funded

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Board of Supervisors Monday approved an appropriation of $100,000 to fortify the city's police stations.

Police officials said the money would, among other things, be used for floodlights, protective fencing, and closed circuit television.

A bomb blast at Park Station Feb. 16 fatally injured one officer and wounded several others.

Dorothy von Beroldingen, chairman of the board's Finance Committee, said police and public works officials "could use the money as they see fit to provide the maximum security for each of our police stations."

Window Vandals Hit Corte Madera Firm

Marin's slingshot night riders moved to new ground last night, firing a steel nut through a display window at J and B Ford, 5860 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

Co-owner Herman Baldatti said the impact showered the cars on the display room floor with glass, but there was no damage beyond the 24-square-foot window. He had no estimate of the damage cost.

J and B is the latest in a series of victims of vandalism apparently related to the strike against the Independent-Journal by San Francisco International Typographers' Union Local 21.

Several firms which, like J and B, have been warned not to advertise in the I-J during the strike have been hit by the projectiles, but damage has been limited mainly to San Rafael.

Other victims have been Stan's for Sports in San Rafael and Novato, and Marion's Maternity Shop, Catania Sound, and BMW Auto Zentrum, all San Rafael stores hit by the projectiles.

A stink bomb was shoved under the door of Cox's TV, a bottle was used to smash a window at Holiday House Wig Salon, and a telephone was ripped from a booth and thrown through a window at Dave's Richfield Service, all in San Rafael.

Corte Madera Patrolman Charles Newman said the damage at J and B, discovered at 8:25 a.m., probably took place during the early morning hours.

Agricultural Advice Panel Is Appointed

Six ranchers and a conservation leader were named today to the Land Conservation Advisory Committee, which will suggest guidelines on how to administer the new agricultural preserve law.

Marin County Board of Supervisors appointed Boy Stewart of Olema; Harold E. Gregg of Forest Knolls, president of the Marin Conservation League, James Marshall of Tomales, former Marin County supervisor; George Grossi of Novato; Waldo Giacomini of Point Reyes; Henry Tomasini of Nicasio; and Anthony Silveira of San Rafael.

Among questions to be discussed by the committee is whether the size of the agricultural preserve area in Marin should be reduced, and the criteria to be used in determining what uses would be compatible with agriculture.

Amendments made in the Land Conservation Act by the 1969 Legislature include the requirement that the only land uses allowed in an agricultural preserve area would be those not incompatible with agricultural use.

The group of 2,000 then set off for the embassy where on Feb. 19 demonstrators tore down steel gates at the embassy office building, shattered more than 100 windows and wrecked furniture.

The police gunfire tonight was the first since Jan. 30 when six persons were killed before the presidential Malacanang Palace.

The exchange of fire brought a quick end to the antigovernment march directly below UPI's Asian headquarters on the seventh floor of a downtown building. Lead elements of the column had closed to within 100 yards of the U.S. Embassy.

Booklet Aimed At Criminals

San Anselmo police are making things a little tougher for criminals by handing out to businessmen a booklet full of anticrime tips.

The 12-page booklet tells dozens of steps a businessman can take to protect himself from burglary, robbery, bad checks and shoplifting, the most common crimes against businesses.

Against burglary, for instance, it recommends installing proper locks, night lights, protective window coverings, a check of the building at closing time, and similar steps.

Bay Man Takes Panetta's Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — J Stanley Pottinger, San Francisco regional attorney for the Health, Education and Welfare Department, was named today to succeed Leon E. Panetta, the ousted HEW civil rights chief.

Pottinger, 30, is a native of Dayton, Ohio, and has lived in San Francisco since 1963.

He was transferred from HEW'S San Francisco office where he has been regional attorney since December.

Reagan Sees Campus Gain In Discipline

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan said today there is some evidence campus administrators "are finally beginning to see the light" in dealing with troublemakers and rioters.

Trouble will continue until administrators flatly tell students and faculty members they will be suspended or dismissed if they participate in unlawful demonstrations, Reagan said.

"There is some evidence that they are finally beginning to see the light," he added at his weekly news conference in discussing last week's rioting near the campus of the University of California at Santa Barbara.

But he said he still is critical of campus administrators and any "appeasement" by them to pressure from troublemakers "and can just be hopeful that there is going to be a change of attitude."

Reagan blamed the Santa Barbara trouble, including the burning of a branch of the Bank of America, on "that little bunch of storm troopers," many of them not from the campus.

Reagan said it is difficult to pinpoint the issues that resulted in such trouble, finally put down with the help of California Highway Patrol officers and the National Guard.

But he said, "There is no issue . . . that can justify or warrant students resorting to violence and destruction of property and endangering of human life."

"It's high time this country stood back and took a look at itself and how far we've gone down the road to try to run the government by seeing who can make the loudest noise in the streets."

Reagan said, "There are normal, reasonable channels for redress of grievances and the last place in the world we should expect this kind of violence is in the academic community."

"There is no excuse for it," he added.

Reagan said it would be unfair for students to have to pay for some of the damage at Santa Barbara with student fees.

This is a suggestion that has been made.

Reagan was asked what the state could do, and why violence had increased under his term of office even though he pledged in the 1966 election campaign to put it down.

"We're limited to bringing about a restoration of order with force once disorder breaks out," he said.

Arraignment On Marijuana Count

William Earl Kinday, 24, of Forest Knolls, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municiapl Court on a charge of possessing marijuana when arrested in Novato earlier in the day.

Police said they stopped Kindy for a routine traffic check and noticed a smell of marijuana in the car. They said they found suspected marijuana as well as pills in the car.

Tiburon Garage, Vehicles Burned

Fire of undetermined origin wrecked a garage containing two autos and a motorcycle last night at the home of the co-author of Tiburon's downtown development plan.

Tiburon Fire Chief Franklin J. Buscher said planning consultant Philip K. Buskirk and his wife and two sons fled their two-story home at 4420 Paradise Drive after seeing flames coming from a detached garage shortly after 7 p.m.

Buscher said the home escaped with minor damage to the side facing the garage, but the vehicles were destroyed.

Mill Valley Man Pleads Innocent

Wayne Schilling Harrison, 24, of Mill Valley, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of possessing marijuana. A jury trial was set for the week of April 6.

The case of a co-defendant, Tresa Lorraine Tait, 20, of San Anselmo, was referred to the probation department for possible transferral to juvenile court. She was told to return to court March 16.

They were arrested in a San Anselmo raid Nov. 24.

West Marin Water Meeting Postponed

Because of the unavailability of the West Marin School for use for a public meeting tonight the informational meteing on the formation of an assessment district to study water problems in West Marin has been postponed until 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the school, according to Eugene Churchill, manager of the North Marin County Water District.

The water district board will hold its regular meeting at 8 p.m. today in the administration building to discuss sick leave benefits and the proposed West Marin study.

Canyon Owners To Organize

A group of San Rafael's Black Canyon residents will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Guzman Hall of Dominican College to form a homeowners association.

A representative of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. will address the group about the company's plans to construct a microwave tower in the Black Hills above San Rafael, according to Mrs. Richard Sadler, an organizer of the group.

Cruiser Damaged

TROOPS

started the troop scale-down last June.

Jerry Friedheim, Pentagon spokesman, said the administration still bases troop cuts on three criteria: the progress in the Paris peace talks, enemy activity in the war and the progress in beefing up the South Vietnamese forces to take over major combat responsibilities.

Thus far, the announced troop withdrawals have been based on the buildup of the Vietnamese forces under the Vietnamization program.

Friedheim also said that the heightened fighting in Laos could be a factor in future troop reductions if the activities there adversely affected the security of American forces in South Vietnam.

The Marines once had as many as 90,000 men in the northernmost region of South Vietnam referred to as I corps. About 51,200 remained there now.

In a move which could set the stage for substantial marine withdrawals, the U.S. command in Saigon recently announced that the army would be taking over responsibility for coordinating military activities in I Corps. This action, which is effective in six days, will make the Third Marine Amphibious Force subordinate within the Army 24 Corps.

Vandals Smash Store Windows

Vandals smashed windows in four San Rafael locations between Feb. 20 and Sunday causing more than $112 damage, police reported yesterday.

A piece of ashpalt was used Saturday, or Sunday, to break a $72 window at Jolie Madame, 253 Third Street, according to police.

On Friday two windows, valued at $40 were smashed at Realco Galss, 35 Mill Street and a window pane was broken at Acacia Picture Framing and Art Supplies, 4164 Redwood Highway, police said.

A window in an office operated by the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council at 918 C Street was smashed on Feb. 20, according to police.

Ivan D. Tedrick Dies At Prison

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said Tedrick had a history of cardiac problems.

Tedrick, of Alameda County, since October 1968 had been serving a one-year-to-life sentence for lewd and lascivious conduct.

Two In Marijuana Raid Enter Pleas

Two 23-year-old Novato men, Dennis Leslie Yates and Paul Brent Caldwell, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of burglarising Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley on Nov. 27.

A charge of burgling Reed School on the same day was dismissed against Caldwell.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Yates for March 23 and April 13 for Caldwell.

O'Brien Readies Ballot Papers

MARTINEZ (UPI)—Charles A. O'Brien, chief deputy attorney general of California, took out nomination papers Monday for attorney general in the June 2 Democratic primary.

O'Brien, of Danville, indicated he wanted the state's top legal job after incumbent Attorney General Thomas C. Lynch announced he would not seek reelection.

In another political development Monday, James S. Ramos, an unemployed janitor from San Pablo, filed nomination papers for the office of governor in the Democratic primary after paying the $932 filing fee.

Ammunitions Detonations Bring Charge

The Army, which regularly detonates old ammunition at Fort Cronkhite, triggered another series of blasts today, shaking nearby homes and sending huge plumes of smoke into the air.

One resident, Jack Harris of Muir Beach, charged the Army with polluting the air despite a burning ban by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District. He also said the blasts resembled an earthquake.

Harris reported there were three explosions, coming between 10 and 11 a.m.

Ted McHugh, information officer for the air pollution control district, said his office had no jurisdiction over the activities of the federal government, adding that it was not even obliged—as in the case of some governmental agencies intending to burn—to notify the district about the blasts in advance.

McHugh said the district's enforcement section had received no complaints of the Army's activities.

He added that the district had no official view of the explosions.

Harris said the smoke, alternately white and black, rose "like a mushroom" on one occasion. After the last explosion, he said, a large amount of black smoke drifted toward Mill Valley.

Rummage Sale Is Best Ever

Drake High School's annual rummage sale grossed more than $3,000 Saturday to become the most profitable sale in the school's history, according to senior Annette Lareau, sale publicist.

The money will help finance exchange student trips to Europe this summer by five Drake High School students, according to Miss Lareau.

The five students are Debby Celle of Fairfax, Vonda Riley of Marin City, Channing May, Steve Jensen, and Linda Ginsberg, all of San Anselmo.

Assault Try Is Reported

A 19-year-old San Rafael girl was assaulted early Saturday by a 20 to 25-year-old man who let her go when she started to cry, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Janice Doherty told police the man grabbed her at 12:20 a.m. around the throat in the parking area of her apartment at 95 Medway Road saying, "don't yell . . . I won't hurt you." When she started to cry, sht said, the man told her, "I don't usually go around attacking people . . . " and let her run back to her apartment, according to police.

Two Enter Pleas In Theft Case

Two men arrested in a $5,000 marijuana raid at a Stinson Beach motel in December, 1968, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges of selling pot.

Paul Stanton Gladman, 22, of Stinson Beach, admitted two counts of sale of marijuana and a charge of offering to sell LSD was dismissed. Robert Leighton Leoni, 23, of Bolinas, pleaded guilty to furnishing marijuana and a charge of possessing the drug for sale was dismissed.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for April 8.

Funeral will be tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at Russell and Gooch, San Rafael.

Marin Hikes Some Health Service Fees

Fees for various health services such as inspection of restaurants and immunization will be raised in the new fiscal year, but treatment for venereal disease and tuberculosis clinics will remain free of charge.

This decision came today by unanimous vote of the Marin County Board of Superivsors.

County Health Officer Carolyn B. Albrecht and County Administrator Alan Bruce recommended a $3 fee for gonorrhea diagnosis and small fees for chest clinics and minifilms, but these were rejected by the supervisors, who said they did not want to discourage TB and VD control in any way.

Health inspection of dumps will go from $50 to $65 per year, food processing establishments from $10 to $12.50, food vending machines from $5 to $8, public swimming pools at apartments from $20 to $25 per year.

Small fees will be charged for immunizations, validation of international certificates of vaccination, child health conferences, and provision of duplicate rabies vaccination certificates, which are provided free of charge at present.

Brass Knuckles Case Continued

Daniel Lee Temple, 22, of 35 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of carrying brass knuckles.

Temple was arrested yesterday morning in San Rafael by a policeman who stopped him as he was seen walking along Second and D streets with three companions.

Burglary Case Arraignment

Ronald Lynn Hall, 18, of no known address, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of burglarizing a Forest Knolls home last Wednesday.

His case was continued today for entry of plea.

Hall was arrested Saturday by sheriff's deputies who said that he had been identified as the person who took a $45 camera and $25 in cash from the home of Virginia Davis on Tamal Road.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Animal Keeping Policy Unsolved

Action on a proposed ordinance regulating the keeping of animals in San Rafael was again deferred last night by the city council before an overflow crowd of San Rafael horse lovers, and people who thought they were but weren't.

The council asked the city manager to form a committee of himslef, the planning director, city attorney and several interested citizens, to study the proposal and report back to the council April 6.

Those who thought they were San Rafael horse lovers were indeed horse lovers, but they didn't live in San Rafael. Several appeared surprised to learn they didn't.

A man who gave his address as 143 Merrydale Road said "I thought we were recently annexed," when Mayor C. Paul Bettini told him he didn't live in San Rafael.

Nancy McCall of 30 Manor Road, Kentfield, vice-president of the California State Horsemen's Association, also tried to speak as a San Rafael resident. When told she lived in Kentfield, she said her husband's business is in San Rafael, but the council wouldn't accept it.

The crowd, some in cowboy hats and at least one girl in riding clothes, stood in the aisles and overflowed into the city hall lobby.

A Terra Linda resident, when told he could not be recognized by the council, said that he representtd 28 horses who are residents of San Rafael. When the applause stopped, Bettini said that "the horses will have to speak for themselves."

Bettini told the audience that it was a "lot of misinformation that caused all of you to come down here."

The intent of the council, he said, is not to ban horses in San Rafael. "What we want to do is what's best for the people of San Rafael," he said.

A section of the proposal states that no horse may be kept less than 35 feet from a dwelling on the same premises, or less than 100 feet from any church, school, or building occupied by humans.

It also says that "the area on which a single aminal is to be kept shall not be less than 10,890 square feet."

The San Rafael City Council Also:

POOLS — Adpoted the Uniform Swimming Pool Code, with several minor changes, as the city's ordinance governing the construction and operation of private and public swimming pools. The code is published by the International Association of Plumbing and Mechanical Officials, Los Angeles.

ADVERTISING — Approved payment of a budgeted $1.000 to the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce for advertising work done for the city.

APPOINTMENT — Re-appointed Renee Burdisso as deputy city clerk. She was deputy under W. Clifford Cornwell, but a technicality in the law states that on the death or resignation of the city clerk, the deputy's authority ceases. Cornewell retired last year, and it was necessary to re-appoint Mrs. Burdisso.

LIBRARY — Approved the recommendation of Eleanor G. Murray, president of the San Rafael Library Board, that the San Francisco firm, Consulting Organization, be retained to make a study of, and proposals for the future of, the San Rafael Library. The board previously authorized $3000 for the study.

FIRE ALARM — Approved an agreement between the city and Northwestern Pacific Railroad to allow the city to route its fire alarm circuit through the railroad's tunnel through Puerto Suello Hill.

TAXI LICENSE — Amended the section of the city code pertaining to taxi licenses to delete a reference to a section of the code that no longer exists.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS — Approved a request from the director of public works for $4000 from reserve funds for the purchase of parts for city traffic signals.

HOUSE BOAT — Authorized the city attorney to commence legal action and to contact the Army Corps of Engineers and the Coast Guard to remove a house boat from the San Rafael Canal. James Richard Burke identified himself as the owner of the boat and said it had been moved to the canal without his knowledge while he was out of the state. He said he had made arrangements to have the boat moved, but it could not be done until small craft warnings are lifted.

BOYS' CLUB — Heard Bettini report that he has been contacted by a group interested in establishing a Boys' Club of America in San Rafael.

GUTTERS — Discussed the need for gutter improvements on two streets in the Bret Harte area, and postponed action on one until budget hearings and asked City Mgr. James H. McCown to look into the other.

GOLF COURSE — Heard McCown report that he has had little success in getting progress reports from parties compiling plans for the proposed city golf course, and asked McCown to continue his efforts toward getsaid the city has made no comting progress reports. Bettini mitments on the course, and will proceed no further on it "until we know what's happening."

I-J STRIKE — Passed a motion urging the Independent-Journal and San Francisco Typographical Union 21 to "sit down at the table and settle their differences." Labor representatives said the union had negotiated with the I-J for 14 months before striking, that they had "no reasonable alternative" to striking, and that they have offered to submit the dispute to binding arbitration, but the newspaper has refused.

EMPLOYEES — Appointed McCown as municipal employee relations officer. The city manager had been appointed to the position by name in the past. McCown recommended that the position, rather than the person, be named. The council referred to the city attorney a letter from the city employees association asking for either formal or informal recognition. Formal recognition would name the group majority representative of city employees.

BIDS — Called for bids, and set March 16 as the opening date, for a new accounting machine. The machine will cost about $20,000. The council has already budgeted $6000 this year for it, with the rest to be paid in the next two years.

POLICE — Approved the following promotions in the police department: lieutenant to Capt. Thomas L. Stephenson at $1,205 a month; sergeant to Lt. James W. Carlton at $1,093, and patrolman to Sgt. Kenneth R. Homen at $991, and authorized hiring James W. Mann as a police cadet effective Feb. 22 at $431 a month.

BUILDING — Agreed to pay half of the $380 contractor's fee and $30 engineering feee for the removal during the January storms of an old garage on property at 513-517 B Street which had partially fallen into the creek behind it and was creating a flood hazard. The owner of the property, Douglas R. Ascher of 9 Bolanos Drive, balked at applying the whole fee contending the city had the garage removed before giving him enough notice to have it removed himself.

MEETING — Adjourned until its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. March 16.

San Rafael Pair Nabbed In Fairfield

Two San Rafael men, stopped by the California Highway Patrol yesterday after a high speed chase in Fairfield that ended after the highway patrol opened fire on the fleeing car, were arrested on suspicion of stealing the car in San Rafael.

The driver, Robert Charles Baldi, 20, of 27 Woodland Avenue was also booked into Solano County Jail on suspicion of reckless driving, driving with a suspended license, assault, resisting arrest, disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon.

His companion, Michael James Lawrence, 18, of 523 C Street, was booked on suspicion of car theft.

Both men were later returned to Marin County Jail to be held on suspicion of auto theft. Bail for Baldi was set at $25.000 and for Lawrence at $1.150. Both were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Baldi will be returned later to appear in Solano County Municipal Court in connection with the traffic and resisting arrest bookings, according to the San Rafael police.

San Rafael police said the two men were seen speeding at 2:20 a.m. near Travis Boulevard. The highway patrol opened fire on the fleeing car after Baldi tried twice to ram the patrol car, the CHP said.

After being forced to halt, Baldi fled on foot and was caught by the patrol and Vacaville police 10 minutes later, San Rafael police reported.

A .22-caliber rifle was found in the trunk of the car Baldi was driving, the patrol reported.

The car Baldi was driving had been stolen Saturday or Sunday from the used car lot at DeLong's Chevrolet, 550 Francisco Boulevard, police said.

Major Firings Recommended To Cut Deficit

The Sausalito School District will have to eliminate at least three administrators, eight classroom teachers and several other employees if it is to live with its diminishing budget, Supt. Phillip W. Schneider told district trustees last night.

The staff reductions are necessary because the district faces a $225,000 deficit next year, caused for the most part, he said, by falling enrollment.

Schneider asked the board to make a decision on the proposed cuts "before March 15" to enable the staff members to seek other employment during Easter vacation. The trustees agreed to consider the reduction at their March 9 meeting.

Schneider recommended eliminating the position of assistant superintendent, one of the district's three principals and the position of vice principal at Martin Luther King School.

OTHER CUTS

Other personnel slashes recommended by Schneider include: elimination of the district nurse (the Marin County Schools office will be asked to provide health services), all but special district aides, a community worker at Central School and various clerical help throughout the district.

In addition, he asked that the district's multi-ethnic coordinator be reduced from a full-time to a three-fifths position and that three reading specialists be reduced to one reading coordinator.

He said the classroom teachers to be released were chosen on the basis of date of employment, with teachers who have been in the district the shortest time being the first to go.

He recommended the contracts of the following teachers not be renewed: Carol Van Sant, Richard Aston, Ajib Sidhu, Richard Simmons, Mae Wellman, Doris Grant, Juanita Gaskin and Barbara Hendrickson.

In making the recommendation, Schneider said the involved teachers were welcome to challenge his choices. He added some of these teachers could be retained if other teachers with seniority decide to leave the district at the end of this year.

PARENT PROTESTS

Royce McLemore, a Marin City parent, protested Schneider's plan to eliminate eight of the teachers. "It is a shame the kids will be ones to suffer. It seems that the newer teachers are taking more interest in the kids," she said.

"If the 'good' teachers are the ones who have been here 10 or 15 years, then how come our children's scores on things like reading tests are so low?" she asked.

Board President Nathaniel Johnson told Mrs. McLemore that state law requires that teachers with the least seniority be released first.

Innocent Plea In Stabbing

Ivory Weeks Jr., 32, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of assaulting a Marin City woman with intent to murder her on Dec. 27.

A jury trial was set for the week of April 13.

Hilarita Master Plan Runs Aground Again

The Tiburon Planning Commission balked last night at making a quick recommendation on a master plan for moderate income housing at the Hilarita Housing project site.

Commissioners challenged the density of the plan proposed by the Ecumenical Association for Housing, which was higher than originally proposed several years ago.

After nearly three hours commissioners agreed they needed more time to study the proposed plan and continued the public hearing until 8 p.m. April 6.

The association proposed 100 townhouse and apartment units as compared to the original proposal for 50 apartment units and 12 single family units and the general plan which permits 75 units.

E. G. Weed, association secretary, said 100 units was the optimum for the program and any substantial change "would be fatal." Less than 100 units wouldn't be econimically feasible, he contended.

Allan N. Littman, commission chairman, wanted to know if the city council had been aware two years ago, when it approved the moderate income concept for the site, that 75 units wouldn't be feasible.

Littman said he would regard it as "shocking behavior" if the council had been "sold" on the basis of density that isn't feasible. "That type of approach shouldn't be tolerated," he asserted.

The original plan designed by architects Callister and Payne called for 55 apartment units and 12 single family homes, but Callister said in April, 1968, that the plan might have to go to 75 units for economic reasons.

Architect Herbert McLaughlin of Kaplan and McLaughlin of San Francisco said two years ago 75 units were "barely feasible," and now aren't economically feasible for moderate income housing.

Weed explained the plan which called for 100 units on eight acres, 25 privately constructed apartment units on two acres southeast of Lyford Drive and uphill open space on 2.75 acres.

Littman said he was ready to move for denial of the 25 private apartments and other commissioners expressed reservations about them, but action was withheld.

Weed explained that the alternative would be to construct single family homes on the 4.75 acres, instead of having the open space and the private apartments.

At one point, Commissioner Bennett Wren moved to recommend the plan as presented, but he withdrew his motion when several commissioners said they would have to vote against is because they hadn't had enough time to study it.

Weed contended that open space could be a link to a prospective city park area above the Reed School property, and would be the best use of the site.

The housing at Hilarita, constructed during World War II, is scheduled to be demolished in 1972, and last week the Tiburon City Council rezoned the site to planned development.

This opened the door for the housing association, which has an option to purchase all or part of the site from the Marin County Housing Authority, to submit its plan.

Weed explained that 20 per cent of the units would be available to low income families under the federal leased housing program.

Herbert E. Wenig of 65 Rolling Hills Road said the city should investigate land already zoned for apartments for such a project so the housing need could be met "without violating the single family zoning of the master plan."

Benton J. Bostick Jr. of 90 Seafirth Road, pointed out that the proposed density would be lower than that in a nearby commercial apartment area.

About 30 persons attended the hearing.

The Tiburon Planning Commission also:

DOWNTOWN PLAN—Scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. March 18 at City Hall for a public hearing on the Buskirk-Noble plan for downtown development.

REZONING—Approved rezoning several parcels totaling 150,000 square feet along Marinero Circle, owned by North Bay Properties, from multiple and single family, 20,000 square feet to planned development. The vote was 6-1 with Joseph C. Marshall dissenting.

PARKING—Postponed a hearing on proposed amendments to the parking and loading ordinance until April 6.

Pedestrian Hit On Highway 101

A 63-year-old Salem, Ore. man was reported in critical condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital after he was struck by an auto last night while attempting to walk across Highway 101.

The California Highway Patrol said James R. Hill, who suffered severe head injuries in the accident, was struck about 7:15 p.m. as he walked across the southbound lanes of the freeway, just north of the Lincoln Avenue overcrossing.

Driver of the auto, Thomas R. Ball, 20, of Hamilton Air Force Base, told the highway patrol he saw Hall in the road just as he crested a hill. Ball said he slammed on his brakes, but was unable to avoid hitting the man, the patrol reported.

More Garbage Cans Wanted

The Marin Jewish Center has added to its spring schedule a course in decoupage, the art of decorating surfaces with paper cutouts.

The class will be taught Fridays beginning March 13 at the center at 200 North San Pedro Road, San Rafael.

Other subjects include yoga, folk guitar and photography. All classes begin the week of March 9.

Registration information may be obtained from the center.

Long Hearing On Charges By Officials

Three Sausalito School district administrators exchanged charges at a closed meeting last night with district trustees, but emerged with "a commitment to mutual cooperation and increased communication," according to the president of the district board.

President Nathaniel Johnson said Supt. Phillip W. Schneider, Sidney F. Walton Jr., principal of Martin Luther King School, and James T. Toliver, Jr., vice principal at King School, had made charges against one another "in great detail" at the two-hour-50-minute meeting.

"The probems have been aired and the board has listened and deliberated for many hours," Johnson said following the meeting.

On Friday Walton, meeting before a small group of Marin City Parents, had labeled Schneider "treacherous" and "a backstabber."

Walton told the group Schneider was suddenly failing to back him up "because of political expediency."

Assault With Murder Intent Count Dropped

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday ruled that Robert Peter Sundberg, 27, of San Rafael was guilty of assault with a deadly weapon but dismissed a count of assault with intent to commit murder.

He made his ruling after reviewing the transcript of the preliminary hearing of the case, which stemmed from a shooting spree in Fairfax Oct. 30, after which Sundberg was arrested following a wild auto chase through central Marin.

Sundberg was convicted of shooting at Walter V. Burke, 28, of Fairfax, who successfully escaped the rifle bullets by dodging behind a truck.

Judge Wilson will consider the question of Sundberg's sanity at the time of the shooting during a hearing Friday. Sundberg has a history of narcotic and assault with arrests was described by police as appearing to be "high on something" at the time of the shooting.

Sausalito Board Votes Bayside School Closing

In an attempt to provide a better, "more coordinated" educational program, the Sausalito School District board voted last night to close Bayside School next year and assign all students to the district's three other schools.

The closure, recommended by the board's facilities committee, will save the financially-troubled district only a negligible amount in operating costs, according to Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato.

But Supt. Philip W. Schneider, who endorsed the proposal, later told the Independent-Journal the important gain would be a "more efficient academic operation."

Under the plan, kindergarten students would remain at Manzanita School in Marin City. First through sixth grade students would attend Martin Luther King School, while seventh and eighth graders would be housed in Central School.

At present, first graders are taught at Bayside, second, third and fourth graders at Central and the remaining students at King.

"Putting the first six grades together in one school will enable teachers to do better planning and have more communication with each other," Schneider said. "Academic problems of individual students can be solved more readily.'

"In addition," he continued, "there can be better coordination of programs and use of materials; we can also spread out special instructors, such as reading specialists, to serve more students if all the grades are in two locations."

The board turned down a request signed by 43 staff employees to locate all eight grades at King School after Amato informed the trustees the cost would be prohibitive. He said a complete amalgamation would cost $111,194 as ooposed to $42,005 in relocation costs for the facilities committee plan.

The Sausalito School District Board Also:

CERTIFICATION — Nominated Mrs. Gene Willis, district reading specialist, for certification.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS — Heard a report from Supt. Schneider designating responsibilities and duties for various aides employed in the district.

SALARIES — Took under study a proposal by Trustee C. Gerald Clear, head of the board's finance committee, to adjust administrative salary schedules.

MEETING — Agreed to hold its March 9 meeting at 8:30 p.m. instead of 7:30 p.m. because Trustees David E. Freedheim and James E. Muldoon will be attending a Mill Valley School Board meeting during that hour.

Innocent Plea To Pot Charge

Richard Brooks Hardy, 24, of Massachusetts, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana and a pipe for smoking it when arrested Feb. 21 by Novato police.

A preliminary hearing was set for April 7.

Hardy was stopped by police for speeding. They found two bags of suspected pot in his car as well as a pipe.

Inmate Stabs Quentin Guard

A San Quentin Prison guard was stabbed yesterday by a prisoner with a 14-inch prison-made knife.

Edgar K. Irwin, 38, of Martinez was supervising kitchen operations at 7:40 a.m. when he received the superficial wound from an unidentified prisoner, Associate Warden James W. L. Park reported.

Park said today that a suspect is in custody, but would not identify him pending disciplinary proceedings later this week or early next week.

No reason is known for the attack on Irwin, who was treated at the prison's hospital, Park said.

MARIN MUSIC CENTRE

The Long-Playing Tape Deck

THE KLH Model Forty-One stereo tape deck is the first home recorder that makes top-quality musical recordings at 3¾ inches per second instead of the usual 7½ ips.

That can exactly double the economy of tape recording. And for the first time, you get enough uninterrupted recording time in one direction—64 minutes on a standard reel of tape, 96 minutes on thinner 1-mil tape—to handle practically any piece of music or radio broadcast. No need for extra-large and expensive reels. No performance compromises such as automatic reversing. Above all, no interruptions and no running out of tape before the music stops.

Only KLH recorders can deliver full-range, noise-free performance at 3¾ ips, thanks to their use of the Dolby Audio Noise Reduction System.* The Model Forty-One also provides 1⅞ ips recording for speech and background music—plus 7½ ips for compatibility with other recorders and tapes.

Its performance is matched by a simplicity of operation that makes it easy to get that performance. Come see for yourself just how easy it is to operate, and how easily it fits in with any stereo system.

Finally, a recorder that matches the long-playing record.

Senator Would Apply Brake To Officials' Pay

One reason county employees keep demanding more money is that their bosses, the department heads, keep getting more money.

One reason the county department heads keep getting more money is to keep up with the elected officials, who keep getting more money.

The reason the elected officials' salaries go up so rapidly is that the United States is at war.

THE CALIFORNIA CONSTITUTION says that an elective official's salary cannot be increased during his term of office.

During World War II, however, a legal way around this was found to permit raises at any time when the U.S. was at war.

What with Korea and Vietnam, we've been at war most of the years since then.

The result has been rather rapid escalation of pay for elected county officials — and, in their turn, for non-elected county officials. The county employees below the administrative level have had to organize unions to try to get their share.

IN MARIN COUNTY, most of the officials have received pay raises every two years, at least since 1963.

When the current terms of the assessor, auditor, clerk, district attorney, recorder, sheriff, superintendent of schools, and treasurer started in 1967, they were paid the following annual salaries:

Assessor, $20,000; auditor, $19,000; clerk, $18,000; district attorney, $24,000; recorder, $14,000, sheriff, $19,000; superintendent of schools, $17,517; treasurer, $18,000.

Now these same officials, nearing the end of the terms that started in 1967, are receiving:

Assessor, $25,000; auditor, $24,000; clerk, $22,725; district attorney, $28,000; recorder, $19,300; sheriff, $24,000; superintendent of schools, $21,309; treasurer, $22,725.

And two years from now — or two years before the end of the terms to which whoever wins these positions will be elected this year — the salary of assessor will go to $27,800, sheriff to $26,400, treasurer and clerk to $24,600, and recorder to $22,300. The 1973 escalations for the rest have not been set yet.

Meantime the supervisors have raised their own pay from $9,600 to $12,000.

And salaries of non-elected officials such as county counsel, public works director, health officer, etc., have moved right along.

STATE SEN. John R. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, has introduced a bill to put the brakes on this particular inflation. His SB 15 would simply revoke the exception for wartime to the constitutional provision that an elected official's salary cannot be raised during his term of office.

Since the legislators have taken care of their own raises by amending the constitution, they might just go along with Nejedly.

We hope they do.

GOLDEN GATE VIEW

Delaying Tactic May Misfire For Air-Polluting Industry Group

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Industrial air polluters in the Bay Area are making a tactical error as they continue to stall, evade and delay efforts by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to toughen regulations.

The district's staff has proposed new restrictions on industry, restrictions ordered by the California Air Resources Board to meet its new standards on air quality.

But the Bay Area League of Industrial Associations insists that the restrictions will not improve air quality enough to meet the state standards. The league, conceding it had no alternate proposals, insisted last week that it needed several more months to study the matter.

THE DISTRICT subcommittee reviewing the staff's proposed restrictions reluctantly agreed to the delay. A member of the subcommittee told us it had no choice. The subcommittee would be vulnerable to attack by industry if it approved the staff proposals without waiting for industry's alternate proposals, we were told.

The league's appeal for more time neatly ignored the fact that the state standards, based on what quality air would assure public health, were set last fall. Ever since, the league has been sitting on its deliberate duff.

The league's tactical error is to operate on the old theory that stalling can work. The public mood no longer will brook such a theory, however.

The inevitable result will be that an outraged public will swamp the district, forcing it to impose restrictions on industry that will be far more unpleasant (costly) than those proposed by the staff.

We're assuming, of course, that the league, after more months of study, will not come up with proposals tougher than the district staff made.

THE ENORMOUSLY successful Tiburon-San Francisco ferry run by the Golden Gate Bridge District faces a dark cloud on some distant horizon.

The dark cloud is the possibility that the strike that stopped the service last year, and led the district to take it over temporarily, will end. The end of the strike probably would mean the end of the vastly improved service instituted by the bridge district.

The private carrier rarely appeared interested in promoting the service. Maybe the district should start thinking seriously about getting into some permanent ferry operation from Tiburon.

A SENSE of humor is invaluable in handling irate commuters.

The story, believe it or not, concerns a Mill Valley commuter who demanded that sandblasing of the Golden Gate Bridge be halted during the passage of his automobile across the bridge. He objected that the sand polluted air entering the oil filter of his engine.

He said he had tried coasting past sandblasting operations, but without success. He was advised by bridge officials to file suit through regular legal channels, but has not been heard from since.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Attorney Opposes Endorsing Candidate

Your Feb. 27 issue states that the Marin County Bar Association has agreed to hold a plebiscite on March 26 concerning the municipal Court candidates and that the association "agreed to place the kiss of approval on some candidates' brows." I attended the Feb. 26 meeting about which you were reporting and I am sure the facts were correctly reported to you. The association agreed to take up the plebiscite question at the March meeting and to then decide if one should be held.

I and other members of the association are strongly opposed to holding a plebiscite. I think it would be presumptuous for our association to advise the public how it should vote on local candidates in a local election. . .

Hebrew Race? No, Human Race

In two letters (Feb. 13 and 27) reader R. C. Fox reiterates classifications by "race" and cited instances.

1. Fox designated Vincent Hallinan as not Catholic but of the "Irish race." It so happens Mr. Hallinan was born in the U.S. and writes of himself:

"Our parents were Irish and our children would be Americans, but we were neither."("A Lion in Court," p. 19)

Some time ago, Dublin had a mayor who was of the Jewish ancestry. How could Fox explain an "Irish-Jew", not to speak of black-skinned Jews? What physiognomy do they have in common as the "Hebrew race?"

2. Albert Einstein (whom R.C. Fox designated as of the "Jewish race") answered on his application for entry to the U.S. under race as follows: "human race."

3. Webster's dictionary that Fox cites, gives both colloquial and scientific definition. Webster's complete Unabridged New International cites this disclaimer after all definition:

Further Concerns In Emergency Care

Your thoughtful editorial of Feb. 27, "Who Pronounces Death?", impels me to list just a few of the other questions now being considered by the statewide Advisory Committee on Emergency Medical Care which was appointed by Speaker Monagan at the request of Gordon Duffy, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Health and Welfare:

1. How to bring about centralized efficient dispatching, so that all of the required help will be sent at once without prior "checking out" by police?

2. How to make available special advanced training for ambulance stewards — especially ex-G.I. medics, and legalize technical life-saving procedures, such as administering fluids and medications?

3. How to make it possible for the doctor at the hospital to talk with the ambulance steward and order such procedures, en route, which might otherwise be too late?

4. How to encourage even greater participation and training by firemen, in concert with ambulance crews?

5. How to spread the financial burden of emergency care, including standby time, instead of imposing it mostly on the vicitms?

6. How to get away from the present practice of awarding emergency ambulance contract on the basis of the cheapest bid?

7. How to improve the quality of emergency first aid care at the scene and prevent interference by well meaning but inadequately trained persons, and yet safeguard the victim?

8. How to gain recognition of the fact that emergency care is a specialty — at the scene, en route to the hospital and in the emergency room?

9. How to encourage the general public to take first aid training, so as to save lives at the scene by starting breathing, stopping severe bleeding, diluting poisons and treating shock, while better trained help is en route with life saving equipment?

At this time I will not comment on the San Anselmo incident, as it is under investigation and I presume will be reported on by the Comprehensive Health Planning Association.

THOMAS LARKE, Jr.

Adequate Care Is Druggists' Concern

On behalf of the Marin County Pharmaceutical Association, I would like to express our appreciation to Mr. Alan Jones for presenting the current status of the 24-hour prescription service within Marin County. As stated in his column of Feb. 19, there is an emergency pharmaceutical service available to physicians for their patients. This service is provided by Marin County pharmacists on a volunteer, rotating basis. The prescribing doctor obtains the name of the pharmacist "on-call" for the particular night involved thru the physician's medical exchange.

The delivery of adequate health care services to the public is the concern of all in the health professions; and, it is the desire of the pharmacists of Marin County to provide meaningful and competent pharmaceutical services. This includes the availability of a pharmacist and prescription services in an emergency, within reasonable limitations.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

In one memorable TV show, amiable ex-heavyweight-champ Rocky Graziano was hired to stage a burlesque boxing match with the ebullient comedienne, Martha Raye. It was a live show, and Miss Raye, even fuller of beans than usual, swung from the heels and really socked the surprised Rocky on the jaw. Rocky blinked, and then in a stage whisper heard from coast to coast, informed Martha, "Girlie, if you do that once more, this act is going to have a very sudden ending!"

Honeysuckle Hornstratter, mother of an 18-year-old student at Goucher College, is fed up with the endless discussions she has to listen to when the daughter brings a group of college mates and their boy friends to the house. "When they get on a subject," complains Honeysuckle, "they talk it to death. Last night I had to listen to three hours of nonsense on the difference between heredity and environment. In my day, we didn't need discussions on this. If the baby looked like his father, it was heredity; if it looked like a neighbor, it was environment!"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Even With President's Aid, It's Hard To Stop Despoilers

EVERGLADES NATIONAL PARK—It was a famous victory. And how much authority it took, right up to the White House, to save this unique natural wonder from the developers is a masure of the threat everywhere to all that remains of the American heritage.

The Dade County Port Authority had already put $13 million into the proposed jetport. A training strip had been built. Estimates of the eager developers were for a statellite complex around the port of at least a million inhabitants.

Certainly, it would have meant the end of the park and most of the rare and vanishing bird and marine species sheltering in this last refuge. The sonic boom, the pollutants in the air and water, all the pressures of an enveloping city almost as large as Miami, would have meant doom. So the conservationists in and out of government went into battle.

But, even though ecology and environment are the magic words of the moment, the outcome was so close that it took two cabinet officers and the President to swing the balance. Nor can anyone feel really assured so long as the jetport has not been relocated. Ardent conservationists feel that conceding the use of the training strip threatens the park.

"DON'T YOU forget it," one of the fierecest of the developers said after the verdict against the port, "We've got our foot in the door and we're not going to stop. Don't you think that those birds and those frogs down there have had the last word."

Man the polluter, the despoiler, man the builder who in his heedless building destroys the environment essential to life, has come close to the edge of the abyss. How close is evident in the struggle to save another piece of the still-unspoiled wonder of water and island reefs so swiftly vanishing.

Congress has authorized a Biscayne monument in southern Biscayne Bay. In this area of 105,000 acres the goal is to preserve waters so clear that the ocean floor is plainly visible, the reefs as yet untouched by the bulldozer and the shoreline where the mangrove growth shelters a complex life essential to the balance between a productive marine growth and briny sterility. Along these reefs are some of the wrecked ships that went down when the bay was a passage for the Spanish treasure galleons and British frigates of the 17th and 18th centuries.

WHAT HAS happened in northern Biscayne Bay is a dramatic object lesson. The water off Key Biscayne, the ultra-rich resort where President Nixon has his $250,000 winter retreat, are already polluted. From Miami, Miami Beach, Coral Gables and the developments springing up so fast along the coast, a tide of half-treated sewage effluent and even raw sewage pours into the ocean. The drainage canals flowing through Miami have a seven - or eight - foot layer of sewage and sludge. The waters around Key Biscayne were unpolluted not so long ago.

Land purchases of $10 million for Biscayne Monument have been made or committed, and the State of Florida has agreed to turn over the right to underwater preserves. But the ceaseless opposition of the builders and the land speculators can yet prevail. The undeveloped shore line of southern Biscayne Bay is the hottest speculative property in the country. European investors are said to be deep in this state, the third fastest growing in the nation.

ANOTHER SERIOUS source of pollution is the nuclear reactor power plant being built by Florida Power and Light at Turkey Point. If the company persists in discharging heated water into the bay, temperatures raised seven to eight degrees will overwhelm the delicate balance of marine life.

The plain truth is that there are just too many people crowding into this narrow strip of highly advertised sand, sun and sea. The developers, with the help of those eagerest of eager beavers, the Army Corps of Engineers and their drainage canals, are pressing down on the boundaries of Everglades Park. To hold the line will take at least as much zeal as went into the fight against the jetport.

Corruption 'Way Of Life' For Officials In Asia

By FREDERICK NOSSAL
Toronto Telegram News Service

HONG KONG—(TNS)—The trouble with Asian leaders is that they corrupt the souls of those they rule.

Corruption, of course, is not peculiar to Asia. But in few areas is corruption as widespread as in Asia—where it is a way of life.

ONE OF THE BIGGEST scandals in recent history was the $30 million fortune accumulated in six brief years of absolute power in Thailand by the late Marshal Sarit Tharanat, who died in 1963.

In Indonesia, some units of the armed forces run their own private companies—including their own bus service—to augment their income. Troops set up special road-toll stations to squeeze cash from passing motorists and truck drivers.

President Suharto hasn't succeeded in cutting back corruption in Indonesia, nor has President Ferdinand Marcos made much of a dent in the Philippines. In fact, the opposition has accused Marcos of being involved in dirty deals himself.

In Manila, student demonstrators have demanded that Marcos and other high government officials reveal publicly all their assets.

IN SOUTH VIETNAM, many officials claim they simply have no choice but to go in for bribery and graft because of the rising cost of living. In fact, it's little wonder that the Vietnam war situation has driven soldiers and officials to become pilferers.

A civil servant with 20 years service, for instance, earns the equivalent of $85 (U.S.) per month. The smarter and more attractive among the young hostesses working in the bars and red-light districts ringing U.S. bases and downtown areas in South Vietnam can make up to $850 (U.S.) per month, or more.

Even in China, charges of corruption have appeared in the national press. The People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist Party, has just hit out at selfish cadres interested only in luxury. Mass arrests have been reported.

Some cadres sent to the countryside to be re-educated on farms and communes had managed to build luxurious homes, according to Peking.

IN SOUTH KOREA, large-scale corruption is taken for granted by the business community and by the public.

But even a man of the world like President Park Chung-Hee was shocked recently when he came across a row of truly magnificent mansions along the southeastern banks of the Han River in Seoul.

He thought at first that the owners were wealthy South Korean businessmen, and was aghast to learn that they belonged to some of his most trusted political and administrative lieutenants.

Among the most impressive was a home that had pushbutton doors, a basement bar and was surrounded by exotic gardens. This little item has cost the owner $330,000.

Park himself, who took power in a military coup on May 16, 1961, has been singularly free from charges of corruption, and can afford to conduct a tough campaign against dishonest subordinates.

In a land where the majority still lives in conditions of bleak poverty—despite South Korea's current economic boom—President Park's anti-corruption drive will earn him many new friends.

In What Region Is Sonoma? Question For Politicians – And Others

Sonoma County's relationship to other Bay Area and North Bay counties seems to be an arguing point.

Whether talking about the Association of Bay Area Governments or the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, all discussion narrows down to the question of what alliances the county should make.

The make-up of the county, ranging from suburban Petaluma to the agrarian north, is about as diverse as opinions on the subject.

Those in the southern portion of the county can see a distinct link with Marin and the Bay Area because most of the new population is coming from those areas.

Others in the rural area see few mutual problems with urban San Francisco and the Bay Area. The implication is obvious that less populated Sonoma County will continually get the short end of the stick.

ONE POINT of usual agreement is that some problems demand a regional approach for reasonable solutions, but what that region should be remains the stumbling point.

Napa and Solano counties reportedly are experiencing the same dilemma and have approached Sonoma County to form a regional group for air pollution control. This, in turn, rekindled the possibility of a permanent regional group as an alternative to ABAG membership.

Discussions of more than a year ago were fruitful until representatives of the Department of Housing and Urban Development refused to recognize any tri-county organization in the same form as ABAG. This led to thoughts that other counties, such as Mendocino and Lake, could be lured into a new region of North Bay counties which could take the letter symbols of NOBAG, North Bay Association of Governments.

ALTHOUGH ABAG membership and Sonoma County's outside ties were not questions in the 1966 supervisorial campaign, they most likely will this year.

Incumbent Supervisor George T. De Long of Petaluma has not been an outspoken critic of ABAG, but has been instrumental in finding an alternative to membership in the regional air pollution control district. He favored a county district, saying that costs would be lower and local control could be maintained.

An announced opponent, Petaluma City Councilman Philip L. Joerger, has long been an ABAG critic, always calling it "another layer of fat in government" and the cause of high taxes and loss of local control.

While the candidates debate the subject through the June 2 primary and possibly into November, probably little will be resolved, since any changes must have approval from the state level. With many state officials also facing an election, it is questionable how many will participate vigorously in the question.

Two Cited After Boy Apologizes In Money Theft

Officer George Norton said that Richard Warner, 488 Santa Barbara Drive, went to the Exchange Bank Friday afternoon to apologize for taking a money bag from the night deposit box. Norton said the bag containing $100 in cash had been removed Feb. 23.

Warner implicated Dennis Proctor, 438 Santa Barbara Drive, who was arrested Sunday on four counts of burglary. Police said he had also been responsible for earlier burglaries at the city community center, Collegeview Nursery and Las Casitas moblie home park.

The boys were cited to appear in Sonoma County Juvenile Court and were released to their parents.

Stalled Car Hit; Driver Injured

John H. Dawson, 43, of Apt. 9D, 31 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, suffered a cut lip and leg injury in a two-car crash on Highway 101 in Greenbrae Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

The patrol said Dawson's car hit a vehicle driven by Gerald P. Flannery, 32, of 41 Park Ridge Road, San Rafael, which had run out of gas and was stopped on the freeway at 12:30 a.m.

The patrol said Dawson was taken to Marin General Hospital, but officials there said they had no report of Dawson being treated.

In Nuclear Arms Race, It's How Many Times You Die That Counts

WASHINGTON — There have been some frightening figures coming out of the Pentagon lately on Russian missles. They have been released by pure coincidence at the very moment that the Defense Department is asking for the second down payment on the antiballistic missile system. We have been told that the nuclear balance is in danger and by 1975 the Russians will have five times as many nuclear weapons as the United States.

What does this all mean? To find out, I visited the Pentagon and talked with Hiram Hempleweather of SHOT, which stands for Scaring the Hell Out of the Taxpayers.

HEMPLEWEATHER was perspiring when I walked into his office. "It may be too late even now to catch up with the Soviets," he said.

"How's that?" I asked.

"The Soviet ratio of four missiles to our one could easily change by 1975 to give missiles to our one. We won't have a chance."

"What do you mean we won't have a chance?"

"At the moment the Russians can kill each American four times, and we can kill each Russian only once. In five years they can kill us five times and we can only kill them once. This puts us at a terrible disadvantage. We must maintain the four-to-one ratio or we'll be at the Kremlin's mercy."

"BUT SURELY our Polaris-Poseidon submarines can protect us."

"Not for long. By 1975 we'll have only 650 Polaris missiles available for launching, while the Russians will have 950 submarine missiles to launch at us.

"This means we can kill each Russian only two-thirds as many times as they can kill each American."

"How did it happen?"

"The Americans have been lulled into thinking that as long as they can kill Russians once they have a defense."

"They don't?"

"OF COURSE NOT," Hempleweather said. "Suppose we go to the disarmament talks in Vienna and say to the Soviets, 'We have enough weapons in our stockpile to kill every citizen in the USSR three times,' and they come back and say, 'So what?' We have enough missiles to kill every American 15 times.' That will put us at a disadvantage. But if we have parity and we can say that we can kill every Russian 10 times for every American they kill 10 times, we'll be in a better bargaining position, and they'll think twice about starting something."

"The problem with your argument as I see it," I told Hempleweather, "is that Americans don't want to spend money on weapons that can kill the Russians more than once."

"Right you are, and the Soviets are well aware of this. That's why they're winning the missile race. Someday we're going to wake up and discover the Russians can kill us as many times as they want to, and there won't be a damn thing we can do about it."

"WILL BUILDING an antimissile ballistic system really help us?"

"It's bound to. If we're willing to spend the money, we could cut down the danger of Soviet missiles to a point where they could kill us only two-and-a-half times.

"The Soviets wouldn't dare start anything if they knew they could kill us only two-and-a-half times. But if we don't spend the money and they know they can kill us five times, then we could have the greatest nuclear crisis in history.

"All I'm trying to do is wake up the American people to the fact that in the nuclear arms race it isn't how you are killed, but how many times you are killed that counts."

Bond Sales

Marin residents purchased $146,242 worth of U.S. Savings Bonds during January, William P. Murray Jr., county savings bonds chairman, has announced. California sales totaled $32,471,023.

Speaker Contest Winner Chosen

Sophomore Jane Miller has won a speakers' contest sponsored at Terra Linda High School as part of the 33rd annual competition staged by Lions Clubs in California and Nevada.

Miss Miller, sponsored by the Civic Center Lions Club, will represent Terra Linda in an interschool competition March 17 at San Marin High School in Novato, according to Mrs. Lenn Bragg, speech teacher and coach at Terra Linda. The state finals and a match between the California and Nevada winners will then be held.

Miss Miller's winning speech was presented in a debate on the topic, "Generation Gap—Fact or Fantasy." Other contestants in the Terra Linda contest were Dolores Flores, a senior; Mark Cesare, a junior, and sophomores Chriss Wyss and Kathe Kaeppel.

Inez Storer Show

Paintings and drawings of Inez Storer will be exhibited this month from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays at the Title Insurance and Trust Co., 1200 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Earthquake Study Panel Being Urged

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA—The Sonoma County Grand Jury yesterday urged the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors to form a study committee to make amendments to the building code to compensate for earthquake dangers.

The jury committee headed by Foreman Edward C. Trigeiro said that its studies showed that an in-depth study is needed to upgrade the building requirements in areas which suffer unusual stress during earthquakes.

The jury said the study committee should include lay citizens as well as engineers, builders, insurance agents and developers. Also recommended was a new policy requiring the inspectors from the county building department to inspect county buildings as they do all others.

As an example the committee cited the Social Services Building which was severely damaged although it met the building code requirements. It said that damage to the county building and others in the Oct. 1 earthquake illustrated the need for more stringent building codes.

The supervisors said that all necessary steps were being taken to repair the building and took the study committee recommendation under advisement.

River-Menaced Petalumans Plead For Action To Save Their Homes

Petaluma Residents—watching their homes sinking rapidly into the Petaluma River—last night appealed to the city council to find a solution before their children must learn to tread water.

Homeowners on Rocca Drive and other streets in the Linda Del Mar subdivision complained of backyards dropping off into the river and foundations sinking rapidly.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert said the problems originated with the developer who built the homes too close to the waterway and failed to complete improvement work required by the city.

He said the city sued the developer on behalf of the homeowners and received a settlement of $85,000 from which $64,215 was netted. He said that the money has been invested, but is still totally insufficient to save the homes.

Councilman Philip L. Joerger said that 10 to 12 homes are in immediate danger of falling into the river. "It's impossible to wait two or three years to start improvements," Joerger said, "the only answer is to acquire land and move the houses."

Negotiations to that end broke down more than two years ago when land was not available for moving the houses.

Leon Bolling, 11 Rocca Drive, said that his backyard has been reduced to three feet and that the foundations have dropped by a foot in the last year.

"We're needing help," Bolling said. Noting that engineers have said there is no possible way to stabilize the ground, he also recommended seeking an arrangement to move the homes involving funds from the homeowners, lending agencies and city.

John Kaupp, 2 Rio Vista Way, said his backyard has been reduced by 20 feet and showed picture illustrating why it is no longer safe to permit his children to play in the backyard.

Mayor Helen Putnam asked Joerger to bring the problem to the attention of the Petaluma advisory board to the Sonoma County Water Agency and instructed Councilmen Robert A. Brunner and Fred V. Mattei to work with the homeowners and city staff to find a solution.

The Petaluma City Council Also:

MOVERS—Heard City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer report on the increasing ferquency of houses being moved from Novato through Petaluma into rural areas. He said that breakdonws could cause problems for emergency vehicles. Movers said that only fives houses remained to be moved through Petaluma and that none would be taken over the East Washington Street overpass to present a problem for emergency vehicles in reaching the Eastside.

FIESTA—Heard a request for funds from the Old Adobe Fiesta committee. A more detailed accounting of funds needed was requested.

NAME CHANGE—Approved a resolution changing the name of McDowell Road to North McDowell Boulevard and recommended that the Sonoma County Planning Commission take similar action for the county portion of the road.

COMMISSION—Agreed to hold a future special meeting with the planning commission to consider establishing a board of zoning adjustments.

REZONING—Introduced an ordinance rezoning 1796 East Washington Street from residential to professional-medical and community commercial.

MEETING—Set a special meeting for Monday at 7:30 p.m. to canvass results from today's $1 million bond election.

Church Offers Teen Center Site

The congregation of Grace Lutheran Church in Novato Sunday voted to offer the church parsonage for a teen-age center for Novato, according to Rev. Robert Fickenscher.

The offer had no definite terms and all financial arrangements would be worked out late with the city, Rieverend Fickenscher said. He said that the house at 1787 Grant Avenue has a living room, dining room, kitchen and three bedrooms, plus a garage.

The church would have to find other housing for the pastor who is living there now. The city would have to remodel the house to make it usable as a teen center.

The item will come before the city council at its meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday.

Ignited Box Pushed Into Letter Slot

An arsonist pushed an ignited cigarette box and match books through a letter slot or open transom at First American Title Co. of Marin, 341 Second Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

The incident occurred between 5 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Sunday, according to police. Three holes were burned into the rug inside the front door, police said.

Muni Band To Fade; Jazz In

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Art Commission voted Monday to shed the oom-pah of the city's old municipal band in favor of a jazz band that will offer more modern sounds starting July 1.

Agnes Albert, chairwoman of the commission's music committee, said the municipal band was being used less and less, and the city ought to encourage all musical forms.

She said the new band would officially recognize jazz and the many jazz musicians who have begun their careers in San Francisco.

The municipal band began around 1915, when the Panama Pacific International Exposition saluted the opening of the Panama Canal. The band has been a regular sight at civic functions for many years.

Tiburon Men Enter Pleas

I-J Special Report

SAN MATEO—Two Tiburon men pleaded innocent today in San Mateo County's Northern Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana.

Robert R. Hullin Jr., 22, and Stalney E. Metcalf, 20, were ordered to return April 3 for a preliminary hearing before Judge F. J. DeLarios.

They were arrested Friday night at San Francisco International Airport with another man, Norman B. Simmons, 28, of Olympic Valley, Placer County, after they reportedly were caught by a baggage agent with 42 one-kilogram bricks of marijuana.

Simmons did not appear to plead today. The judge issued a bench warrant.

Bit Of Mexico In San Rafael

Independent-Journal, Tuesday, March 3, 1970

For sisters Estela Rivera Katerndahl and Lucha Rivera Miller of San Rafael "togetherness" in real life and in stage life is a joy.

Sixteen years ago, on their parents' silver wedding anniversary, Oct. 23, 1954, Estela and Lucha were married to Richard Katerndahl and Jack Miller at a double wedding ceremony in the Basilica of Our Lady of Guadalupe in Mexico.

Both sisters married account executives with competing advertising firms, whose offices were in the same building in Los Angeles. After sharing two years together in Los Angeles, the sisters were separated as the Katerndahls were transferred to San Francisco, Denver, Detroit and then back to San Francisco.

The Millers were transferred to Mexico City, back to Los Angeles, and now, after fourteen years, Richard Katerndahl is manager of the advertising agency Campbell-Ewald with offices in the Alcoa Building, and Jack Miller is manager of the advertising firm Geyer-Osward with offices again in the same building.

UNTIL LAST WEEK Lucha and her husband and son, John, were staying with her sister, Estela, her husband and seven children in their San Rafael home, all enjoying the "togetherness." Thursday the Millers moved into a new home in San Rafael, the day before the entire family opened in the comedy "Seven Nuns South of the Border."

Estela and Lucha's father, Gonzalo, is a professor of history and theology at the University of Mexico, and their mother, Frances, is a former concert pianist, artist and poetry reader. From their earliest years the sisters, with their two brothers, Armando and Salvador, were encouraged and exposed to the arts and to higher education.

EVERY EVENING after dinner, while coffee, cheese and fruit were being served, the family participated in a "sobre mesa"—a one hour lively discussion of many subjects where their wits were sharpened, their interests broadened and, at the same time, the parents came to know their children better. Gonzalo Rivera believed in housing a healthy mind in a healthy body, so insisted all the children participate in sports, which they all did together at a club which offered swimming, tennis and badminton.

Estela and Lucha say their father was king in their home, but they smilingly reveal that their mother ruled prudently as a queen, bowing to the king.

While in the company of young men, the girls were always chaperoned, either by their mother or by their aunt. This continued until the day of their marriage.

THE PROSPECTIVE BRIDEGROOMS were met at the airport by Mr. Rivera and his daughters, escorted home for a reunion, then sent to a hotel for the night after Mr. Rivera locked their iron gates at home. The next morning the couples were married after not having seen one another for a year.

Estela met Dick Katerndahl while she was attending Mt. St. Mary's College in Los Angeles, where she went at the age of fifteen with strict instructions to the nuns from her father that Estela must be chaperoned on all social occasions, even while shopping. The nuns thought that such parental restriction must be an indication that Estela was weird or wild. They soon concluded that Estela was neither, so they discreetly allowed her to participate in normal college life.

Since a 27-year-old Swedish engineer had asked for Estela's hand when she was 15, Mr. Rivera insisted that Estela go at least one year to college before she could be married. While at college, the nuns had arranged a social for the girls with the students from St. Martin of Tours. Estela insisted that she could not meet the young men because she was engaged. But the nuns insisted that social life was an integral part of college education and commanded her to go. It was at this social that Estela met the young man who would be her future husband, Richard Katerndahl.

Lucha met Dick Miller in her home, where he was visiting with a cousin while attending Mexico City College. Both Lucha and Estela, after college, were bilingual copywriters for Procter and Gamble for a few years before they were married in the double ceremony. The "togetherness" of talent and experience in the advertising field has brought both couples even closer.

Estela and her husband, Dick, believe, as Mr. Rivera believes, that education is the greatest inheritance you can give your children. Dick and the seven children have attended German class Saturday mornings at Dominican College for the past two years. Estela said "no" to the German for herself since she is partial to French but concentrates on exposing the children to the arts.

The oldest, Richard, is a freshman at St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco, where he has won the highest academic honors in his class. He plays guitar, is a book worm and was last year's winner of the oratorical contest sponsored by Davidson Junior High School. Lucette, in the seventh grade at St. Raphael's School, has a major role in "Seven Nuns South of the Border". She followed her brother's lead and won the contest in oratory this year, studies ballet and piano; Kevin, a fifth grader at St. Raphael's, is pursuing German, great books and basketball; John, in the fourth grade, a natural actor, plays Chico in "Seven Nuns South of the Border". An artist, he has studied violin for two years at Dominican; his drawing won a second prize in a Chronicle contest; Francine, in the third grade, is studying ballet and draws freely; Carl, a first grader, pursues the piano and German, and Paul, in kindergarden, is doing well in German.

All of the children are involved with the Great Books course at St. Raphael's. The many parishioners of St. Raphael's who have admired that "handsome family so immaculately dressed in navy blue and white at Sunday Mass" now have the opportunity to see the entire family colorfully costumed in gay Mexican fiesta attire as they act, sing and dance in "Seven Nuns South of the Border" at St. Raphael's Auditorium Friday, Saturday and Sunday at 8 p.m.

COOKIES ON THE HOOF

Don't be surprised if enterprising Girl Scouts come peddling boxes of cookies on foot, horse or wheels this week and next. Some parts of Marin are easiest reached by horse, as Suzie Peterson, left, and Beth Robb show in making a sale to neighbor Mrs. George Sawyer in Los Ranchitos. The girls, who are members of Troop 2053, are joining with Girl Scouts throughout Marin in selling four kinds of cookies to benefit their organization. County cookie sale chairmen are Mmes. Gordon Colberg, San Rafael; John Combs, Novato; John Barger, San Anselmo and Henry Meyer, Mill Valley. Each troop retains 10 per cent of the sales profit. The sale ends March 15.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Here's How To Get Brownie Points With Girl Friend's Mother

DEAR HELEN:

I am a guy of 16 who likes a girl of 15. I would like some suggestions on getting Brownie points in with my girl's mother.—W.I.D

DEAR W.:

Mainly, treat her like a human being, not your girl friend's mother. But at the same time, show respect and consideration, especially about observing curfews.

And then start on her father—which takes longer.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

Following is my version of What Is A Babysitter?

A baby sitter is a person who:

Sits up till 4:00 a.m. when told her employers would be home by midnight, and then gets underpaid.

Has to put up with drunkenness, freshness and ridicule from the men.

Entertains unexpected company.

Is left waiting for hours to be picked up, but when she must walk, has to be on time.

Is ignored when others are around.

Is left helpless because she is constantly making up for parents' lack of attention towards children.

Has to unexpectedly sit for extra kids without getting extra pay.

Has to fulfill promises made by parents to their children.

Is asked too many personal questions and given lectures on her private life.

If this sounds one-sided it's because it's all happened to — P.J.

P.S. And for all this she is paid less than 75 cents per hour. No overtime. No bonus. Never any praise, even.

DEAR P.:

What you take, you get. Surely you can find better employers.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 14 and I hate my mother. Why? On Saturday I spend all day doing house work, but on Monday it's the same old pigsty. Mom sits on her fat fanny watching her soap operas, or talking on the phone.

The three days she spends at bingo, she looks neat, but when she gets home, that's the end of my beautiful Mom. I'ts back to the old robe and slippers.

She gripes all the time, and when I say anything, she tells me I'll be a hippie and yells about the generation gap. Then she starts on 20 years ago when she had nothing and now I have everything. I have 75 cents a week spending money, and do all the work.

She's always complaining to her friends about what a disappointment I am. And, boy, how she hates the truth about herself.

Can you blame me for—WANTING A BETTER MOM

DEAR WABM:

If your mother is as bad as you say—no, I can't blame you for wanting a better deal. But I'd have to see for myself before I condemn. Perhaps the truth is somewhere in between you two — H.

Peter Max Hose

The days of the mini may be numbered, but the leg art it reveals is certainly having a last fling with the help of poster artist Peter Max. Max has added his bright, witty look to panty hose and body stockings, using vibrant color in strategically located spots, such as silk screened fantasias of flowers, constellations and clouds on an opaque base. In panty hose, for instance, some of his designs (for Burlington Industries) give special allure to the knee, others concentrate on calf or thigh.

ON THE AGENDA

Church Women United To Observe World Day Of Prayer On Friday

MRS. CHARLESETTA ALSTON

Church Women United will join millions of persons Friday in a bond of prayer spanning six continents. Paryers will be offered in 75 languages and 1000 dialects on World Day of Prayer, sponsored by Church Women United.

Marin and Sonoma observations of the worldwide fellowships will be held by three of the women's organizations.

Church Women United of Southern Marin will celebrate at a 10:30 a.m. meeting at the Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur. Speaker will be Charlesetta Alston, director of the San Francisco Adult Literacy Center, who will speak on this year's theme 'Take Courage."

The center, which began four years ago in Mrs. Alston's kitchen, has trained more than 1000 persons who are now tutoring native and foreign born adults and youths in an effort to combat illiteracy.

Mrs. Alston, who received a Hearst Award in 1968 as one of the Examiner's 10 women of the Year, has been active as a church school teacher, school resource volunteer and member of the Writers Guild for new readers attached to the Berkeley Literacy Center and received an Iota Phi Lambda Society award of merit last year.

Church Women United of Sonoma will hold its services at 1:30 p.m. at Grace Reformed Church in Sonoma. Residents of the Sonoma Valley are invited to participate in the 24 hour prayer session.

Church Women United of Petaluma will observe World Day of Prayer beginning at 10 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church in Petaluma.

Mrs. Leslie Kucksdorf, general chairman, said the Episcopal group will be assisted by women of the United Church of Christ, United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian, Elim Lutheran and St. James Catholic Churches, all of Petaluma. Other churches participating are Faith United Presbyterian Church in Rohnert Park, Church of the Oaks in Cotati, Two Rock Valley Presbyterian Church, Penngrove Community Church and Tomales Presbyterian Church.

SPEAKER AT the Women's Society of Christian Service luncheon at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Novato United Methodist Church will be Mrs. Chris Bethards.

She will talk about her psychic experiences and the organization of concentration and meditation groups which have evolved into a nationwide group known as the "Inner Light Foundation." It is her belief that psychic experiences serve to strengthen and enrich conventional religious beliefs.

Mmes. Johnnie Ray, Robert Pritchard, P.A. Ingram and George Thompson will take part in a special Easter worship service titled "Were you There", a dramatized holy week litany with special music. Solists are Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Willard Varty accompanied by Mrs. William Howard, organist.

Mmes. William Meyer and L. D. Cody planned the program. Mrs. George Worden is in charge of devotions, and the luncheon will be served by members of the Hamilton-Wiseman Circle.

TERRA LINDA Cooperative Nursery School is observing Early Childhood Education Week through Friday with a window display at the Euporium in Northgate. Children's art work, photographs and other activities of the nursery school's philosophy are on view.

"MENTAL HEALTH for the Retired" will be Dr. Daniel C. Beittel's topic when he addresses the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club Friday at 2 p.m. at the clubhouse in Kentfield.

The executive board will meet at 11 a.m., and the club will have a business meeting at 1 p.m.

Dr. Beittel's talk will be followed by a tea, served by Mrs. H. L. Shadle, who will be assisted by Mmes. R. R. Abbott, A. B. Hicks, Jerry Starr, W. G. Courtright and Ray Rhodes.

COURT ST. Raphael, 1406, Catholic Daughters of America will sponsor a game night for members and friends Thursday at 8 p.m. in St. Raphael's social hall. Mrs. William Webb is chairman for the evening.

MRS. LOWELL McNICOL

Maxilee Young Is A Bride

Hope Lutheran Church in Santa Clara was the setting for the wedding of Maxilee Young of Fairfax to Lowell Evan McNicol.

For the Feb. 21 ceremony Melinda Young served her sister as maid of honor and Marie McNicol of San Anselmo was the bridesmaid. She is the sister of the bridegroom.

Best man was Peter Sagues of Mill Valley, and Elmer Miller of San Francisco and John Mowat of Novato ushered the guests.

After a wedding trip to Mexico the newlyweds will live in San Geronimo.

The bride is a graduate of Buchser High School in Santa Clara and San Jose State College. She is employed at Lagunitas School, San Geronimo. Mrs. Marian Nygaard of Santa Clara is Maxilee's grandmother.

Lowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleon McNicol of San Anselmo. Employed with Fairfax Rexall Drug Store, he is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, College of Marin and the University of California School of Pharmacy.

NO MINI IN SIGHT

Kudos To Tam High's Program To Reach Turned-Off Students

The experimental On Location education program at Tamalpais High School won unanimous accolades from teachers, students, parents and the Tamalpais High School District board at last night's board meetings.

Instructor Roger A. Griffith outlined the events and basic ideas behind On Location, started as an alternative sort of education to reach children turned off by conventional classes.

Griffith said the program has produced "very satisfactory gains" by most of the students. "Part of our success . . . is in getting people away from their distractions," he said.

Students in the program have made two trips to Yosemite, the last a week-long stay in a cabin that took 17 hours to reach packing in. They also made a trip to the Mother Lode country to study California history and made a motion picture of the trip, and several students are tutoring children in Mill Valley elementary schools.

The general course of events, Griffith said, is to move the students from physical problem solving such as completing a hike to more intellectual problem solving. At the same time, students advance from group to individual activity and from group dependence to self-directed action.

A father of an On Location student, Roger Blum, said he had seen the students gain in maturity, self-confidence, and their attitude toward learning. They once again feel it's exciting to learn, Blum said.

The students declined to speak before the audience of 50 to 60, but approximately half the class of 29 attended the evening board session.

The class started with 38 pupils. On dropped out and eight have returned to regular classes.

"We would have lost half of them by this time," Tamalpais Principal Raymond A. Bell said, if the students had been in regular classes.

Tht board also heard from television consultant Jacob H. Wiens, who drew up a program to establish a complete television studio at Tamalpais High School for an equipment cost of $31,144.

With that studio, Wiens said, educational tapes could be piped into classrooms at all three schools, broadcasts could be sent out via a commercial television cable hookup to the cable company's subscribers, and board meetings could even be televised.

Lessons, lectures, laboratory experiments and othtr lessons could be taped for repeated use, and students could get a basic education in TV technology by learning to run the system, Wiens said.

The board took no action, but put the matter on the March 19 agenda for a decision on whether to hire a teacher with technical television training for the program.

Wiens said the studio equipment could be purchased over several years, the program expanding as new equipment was bought.

The board moved a step closer to opening fire on Speedspace Corporation for delays in completion of portable classrooms this school year.

The board approved issuing a notice of completion for the portables, but the notice itself will note that paving is not finished for all locations.

The board pointedly did not move to pay Speedspace a requested $318,000 payment for the portables, which were months late in completion.

The payment had been recommended by the district's counsel, Richard V. Godino, who advised that the payment would still leave the district owing Speedspace enough to pay for any damages sought for the construction.

The Tamalpais High School Board Also:

HIRING — Hired Gary L. Porter, science teacher at Redwood High School, as a part-time teacher in continuation school at night, at an hourly rate of $6.50.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Louise Velte of Redwood High School and Caroloyn S. Attkisson of Tamalpais High School, both on leave this year.

LEAVES — Granted a one-year maternity leave to Sheila J. Girton, teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School; a one-year leave to Katherine Blickhahn, Drake English chairman, to accept a fellowship; and a one-year leave to Michael E. Schulz, mathematics at Tampais to do graduate work on a grant, all for 1970-71; and a one-month leave in September to Bruni Thylin to join her husband in New York.

GIFTS — Accpeted a gift from Karen Wade of San Anselmo of 19 books for Sir Francis Drake, and a gift from Marin Federated Republican Woman of "The Inaugural Story" for Tamalpais.

'Pimpinone' Again To Be Performed

A repeat performance of Telemann's baroque chamber opera "Pimpinone" has been scheduled by popular demand on March 15 by the Bach-to-Mozart group. It will be presented at 8 p.m. in Brown's Hall, Mill Valley.

The opera features soprano Gwen Curatilo and Baritone Edgar Jones and is narrated by Donaid Pippin of old San Francisco Spaghetti Factory fame.

Though not a fully staged production, the opera, which opened the Bach-to-Mozart concerts in the Homestead Valley Community Association's Candlelight series in December, has dramatic action and costumes.

Students Invited To Give View

San Anselmo students from Sir Francis Drake and Marin Catholic high schools have been invited to "brainstorm" plans for a San Anselmo youth commission tonight with Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro and Councilman Duane C. Ragan.

The officials will meet with students and any other young people interested at 8 o'clock in the city council chamber. The plan is to give young people a voice in city government either through a youth commission or appointing young people to existing city bodies.

Derby Planned

Marinwood Cub Scout Pack 64 will hold its annual pinewood derby at 7:30 p.m. March 10 at the Marinwood Community Center.

Beale Airman To Enter Plea

A 21-year-old airman from Beale Air Force Base near Marysville, Gregory Charles Bernier, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of stealing a car in Petaluma Saturday.

Bernier was arrested by sheriff's deputies Saturday about 1:30 p.m. when he drove into the Gulf station in Ignacio. He told attendants that he had been taken from a Santa Rosa bar by three teenagers in a stolen car and then woke up in the gas station. After deputies arrived, he reportedly told them he had taken the car in Petaluma.

Deputies said he appeared to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

Reed Trustees To Eye Budget

The Reed School District board will resume discussion of the 1970-71 fiscal budget when it meets at 8 p.m. today at Bel Aire School.

The board was told at its last meeting that it faced an estimated deficit of $161,000, but was undecided on whether to call a tax increase election.

In other matters tonight, the board is scheduled to discuss summer school plans and a change order in construction of Reedland Woods School.

Demos May Draft O'Brien To Chair

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawrence F. O'Brien accepted Tuesday a draft to return to the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee.

He delivered a one-sentence reply to the party's executive committee, which unanimously called on him to return to the post he left last year.

"If the Democratic National Committee ratifies the recommendation of its executive committee to draft me as chairman," he said, "I must accept that decision and I will serve my party."

Belvedere Votes To Repair Faulty Gutter

The Belvedere City Council last night voted unanimously to spend $250 to repair a sinking gutter after an irate homeowner said it was a safety hazard.

Dr. Bruce R. Merrill told the council ponding in front of his garage at 22 Peninsula Road could cause accidents especially to "kids riding bicycles" and mothers pushing baby carriages trying to avoid the water backup.

Merrill's wife said three accidents had occurred in the last few weeks at the spot involving youngsters playing near the water. One nearly drowned, she said, and another was "crushed under the garage door."

City Mgr. William L. Cavalli had advised against the city footing the bill for repair work because of many other "spots throughout the city" with the same problem. These persons might approach the council for funds if the precedent were established, he said.

Merrill added water seeping underneath his house from the gutter had forced him to pay from $150 to $300 to repair doors that had settled.

Councilman Sally Mathews stated it was the responsibility of the city to correct the problem since the Merrills had "not built below grade."

The city should only pay 50 per cent of the bill, Councilman Merritt K. Ruddock suggested adding that to keep taxes down residents should do as much work as possible on their own.

"It's the principle," Mrs. Merrill retorted.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

COMMITTEE—Heard a report by Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel naming appointments to the storm drainage committee with himself as Belvedere's representative; Tiburon City Councilman Denis T. Rice, for that city; Fred Mantegani, Tiburon merchants and the sanitary district; Edward Misuraca, Cove and Lagoon roads and Henry E. Cornils, Belvedere Lagoon homeowners.

SLIDE—Heard a report from Cavalli that the Belvedere Public Works Department had additional work to do to repair a slide on Beach Road.

DOGS—Received a letter from the Marin County Humane Society that persons allowing unleashed dogs to roam would be cited.

DRAINAGE—Unanimously approved paying half of $1,521 to direct drainage in front of the Cove Road Apartments from the Belvedere Lagoon to the Belvedere Cove with the remaining 50 per cent of the bill to be paid by the apartments owner, the Belvedere Land Co. and the Lagoon homeowners who would benefit from the improvement.

MAIN—Unanimously approved restoring a water main line running from Beach Road to Bay View Avenue with the city paying half the cost.

SANITARY DISTRICT—Heard a report by Cavalli on meeting with the sanitary district board that it was being pushed to the limit of its capacity with a million gallons of water a day being carried during storms; the possibility of cementing both the inside and out of drainage lines was discussed but no action taken.

VOTING—Established two consolidated precincts for April 14 election with precincts 3402 and 3403 becoming precinct 3041 with polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Belvedere City Hall and precincts 3400 and 3401 becoming precinct 3042 with polls at Belvedere School.

DEBRIS—Scheduled May 18 as the beginning of cleanup week with additional refuse to be picked up along with regular garbage and approved a six-month trial of placing a debris box every other weekend at the Belvedere Fire Station.

AMENDMENT—Set the next council meeting April 6 at 8 p.m. for a public hearing on amending assessment to individual parcels of land in a special assessment district to install fire mains on Eucalyptus, Crest and Cliff roads.

MARATHON—Approved Belvedere roads to be used May 30 in a marathon race sponsored by Pacific Amateur Athletic Union and World Runners Magazine to begin on Paradise Drive, Tiburon, proceeding around Belvedere, Strawberry Point, under Highway 101 to Sausalito, over the Golden Gate Bridge ending in San Francisco's Marina Green.

Blinding Sun Causes Accident

Harold R. Schiller, of 8 Laurel Avenue, San Anselmo, said he would seek treatment from his own physician for cuts suffered in an accident Thursday when his car struck the railing of a bridge on Lagunitas Road, Ross police said yesterday.

Schiller said he was blinded by the setting sun and didn't see the bridge, according to police.

NEW FUEL POWERS STANDARD ENGINES

Tamalpais High School students study carburator modifications on a standard engine using natural gas, said to be 90 per cent freer of pollution than conventional gasoline. Pointing out the changes at the school's Activity Day program on air pollution yesterday was Leigh J. Abell, automotive engineer for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. The cost of converting a service truck from gasoline to natural gas is $450, the company said. While the distance is only 40 miles per tank, it costs the company only half as much to travel the 40 miles. The company is using four converted trucks in the Bay Area to determine the feasibility of a total change-over of all company trucks. Company officials said they will know the results of the pilot program in about three months.

County's Education Budget Shifts With Policy Changes

Four more sections of the 1970-71 budget were approved last night by the Marin County Board of Education for submission to the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Ups and downs in the totals reflected changes in operating systems.

The proposed budget for contracted services is $363,189, compared to last year's figure of $550,369, reported administrative director Robert E. Spain. But last year's figure included $219,844 for data processing, which individual districts will contract directly next year with the company, so a more comparable figure for last year would be $330,525.

The proposed general fund budget is $291,236, compared to $240,407 in 1969-70. Half the increase, $25,000, is for setting up a new payroll system with county data processing, and another $16,000 is in the budget for Loma Alta School at Juvenile Hall, increased from $120,443 to $136,255.

The county school board budget is $4,700 compared to $4,460 last year and the budget for the County Committee on School District Organization is $22,703 compared to $5,738 last year.

The committee budget, Spain says, includes approximately $16,000 for unification elections in San Rafael and Tamalpais high school districts. The election money is put into the budget request each year and knocked out by the county administrator's office, Spain said. The committee has recommended against holding unification elections this year.

The board has yet to consider the 1970-71 special education budget, Spain said.

The board also heard that the State Department of Corrections had turned down as too expensive extensive improvements and expansion of the Bayview school program at San Quentin Prison.

The board agreed to ask the county supervisors to support its request for improving Bayview, and to submit its request to the state again.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

DRUG ABUSE—Agreed to hire as consultants the Sonoma County Drug Abuse Council, in cooperation with Tomales High School, for drug abuse workshops at Tomales High School all next week, March 9 through 13. The board also agreed to hire consultants G. A. Howenstein of the San Anselmo Police Department and Christopher Thorsen of the Community Planning Group to conduct drug abuse workshops for teachers. No date has been set for the workshops.

MUSIC—Hired two consultants for the annual Marin County Honor Music Festival March 13 through 15: Marjorie Klein of Palo Alto to direct the honor chorus and John Pereira of San Francisco to direct the honor orchestra.

DERF—Hired John Gaeth, Wayne University researcher in visual and auditory perception, to meet March 13 and 14 with county teachers of deaf and blind students in a program co-sponsored with the San Francisco Hearing and Speech Center.

SUPPLIES—Awarded contracts for standard school supplies to 10 companies. Marin schools may buy items from the list at bid prices instead of making their own contracts.

OCCUPATIONAL EDUCATION—Appointed board member James A. Swenson to the Marin County Occupational Education Council, along with C. L. Thacker of Novato, faculty member at Cogswell Polytechnic College, San Francisco.

SUMMER SCHOOL—Adopted a 27-day summer school schedule running from June 27 through July 31 for all special education classes.

TRANSFER—Approved an interdistrict transfer to let Thomas Lescohier of the Tamalpais High School District attend John O'Connell vocational school, San Francisco.

GRAND JURY—Was told by Supt. Virgil S. Hollis that the required response to the 1969 Marin County Grand Jury report would be prepared by the March 19 meeting of the county school board committees.

MEETING—Set the next meeting of the county board of education committees for 7:30 p.m. March 19 in the county schools office.

Driving Charges Held To Be Misdemeanors

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court yesterday placed Garth Coe Pearce, 55, of Tiburon, on one year probation, ordered him to spend 15 days in jail and fined him $300 for drunken driving.

Pearce earlier had pleaded no contest to two felony counts stemming from an accident Oct. 30 in which two elderly pedestrians were seriously injured. The judge gave Pearce a suspended six months jail sentence and declared the offenses to be misdemeanors.

Berkeley LSD Raid Linked To Marinite

A Tamalpais Valley man was identified yesterday by narcotics agents as the person who rented a Berkeley house where $50,000 worth of LSD was seized earlier in the day by state and federal drug agents.

Arrested at his home, 55 Loring Avenue, was Keith Steven Gwin, 25.

Inspector Harry Bock of the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau said that officers who raided a Berkeley residence found 1,200 acid tablets plus two or three pounds of the drug in powder form.

The agents were told that Gwin had rented the house and made regular visits to its residents.

Yesterday when officers went to Gwin's Tamalpais Valley home, they said he answered the door wearing a shirt which had a marijuana cigarette sticking out of the pocket. On a copper tray in his living room was more pot, they said.

Bock said he asked Gwin if there were more drugs in the house and Gwin pointed out two and a half kilos of suspected pot in a closet.

Gwin was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possession of marijuana and possession of the drug for sale. He was held without bail for questioning by federal agents about the Berkeley LSD.

He was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Rohnert Park Water Bids Trims Sought

Bids on water projects were accepted by the Rohnert Park City Council last night, but were held for approval by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the bids on the major project involving federal funds would require plan changes to bring the cost at least down to $101,000.

The low bidders, Argonaut Constructors of Santa Rosa, bid $118,000 for construction of a new water well and 300,000-gallon storage tank. The project had been estimated at $95,000.

Also tied in with the federally funded project were bids on a new water main on Snyder Lane. Low bidder was Soilland Co. at $9,990 on the job estimated at $10,380.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

LOCATER—Approved the purchase of a pipe leak locater for the public works department at a cost of $329.

GOLF COURSE—Heard a report that Bankamericards and Master Charge cards may be used for greens fees at the municipal golf course.

LIGHTS—Heard a complaint from Lorraine Curley objecting to the requirement that she provide street lights in developing the Lorena Manor mobile home park. The council rejected her appeal.

DISPATCHER—Heard a report that the telephone answering service will no longer serve as an after hours and weekend dispatcher for police and fire after March 31. Callinan said students from Santa Rosa Junior College could be hired as dispatchers.

MEETING—Changed the date of the meeting with the Petaluma Board of Education from March 19 to April 2, at 7:30 p.m. in the Green Mill inn. The next council meeting will be March 16 at 7 p.m.

Another In Sonoma Supervisorial Race

Richard Day, Rohnert Park attorney and member of the Sonoma County Board of Education, today announced his candidacy for supervisor from Southern Sonoma County.

The other announced second district candidate for the June 2 primary election is Petaluma Councilman Philip L. Joerger. The incumbent is George T. DeLong of Petaluma, who was appointed in June to replace Leigh S. Shoemaker, who reisgned due to ill health.

Day, a member of the law firm of Fredericks and Swenson, is active in many conservation groups. He is on the board of directors of Californians Organized to Acquire Access to State Tidelands and is chairman of the Sonoma County Task Force on Air Pollution.

Day is also a director of the Rohnert Park Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the civil rights committee of the Sonoma County Bar Association, member of the steering committee of the Redwood Empire Trial Lawyers Association and a member of the Sonoma County Housing Committee.

As a member of the county board of education, Day serves as chairman of the committee on special schools and as a member of the curriculum committee. While on the board, he has urged the development of a comprehensive environment education program and for improvements in drug education.

"My decision to run for the board of supervisors at this time has been prompted by my belief that Sonoma County must act now if it is to prevent this area from despoiling its greatest resources," Day said.

"If present policies continue, our wild north coast rivers will be channelled to supply water for the suburbs and industries of Southern California. Our publically owned beaches will be sold to private developers for the exclusive use of wealthy city dwellers who can afford a second home on our coast," Day said.

Day's wife, Jean, is a reference librarian at Sonoma State College. They have one son, Douglas, a student at the Waldo Rohnert School in Rohnert Park.

Bruce To Speak On Government

Alan Bruce, Marin County administrator, will speak on "Organizing County Government to Meet Our Needs in the 70s" at the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce breakfast meeting at 8 a.m. March 10 at the Footlight Cafe, Belvedere Boardwalk.

The meeting is open to the public.

Eight Drivers Are Fined For Drinking

Eight persons have been sentenced by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Celestino Arozarena, 52, of 1374 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, was placed on two years probation, ordered to spend five days in jail and fined $302. He was arrested July 5 in San Rafael.

Warren Roy Tingley, 56, of 944 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was given a five-day suspended jail sentence and placed on one year probation. He was arrested Oct. 26 on Highway 101.

Patrick Michael Galvin, 39, of 7 Wolfback Ridge, Sausalito, who was arrested Dec. 24 on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $150.

Arvid Samsoe Teilmann, 49, of 364 Marin Avenue, Mill Valley, who was arrested Aug. 4 on Almonte Boulevard, was ordered to spend two days in jail and placed on one year probation.

Eugene Martin Firth, 29, of 221 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur, was placed on one year probation, fined $150 and ordered to spend two days in jail. He was arrested Nov. 19 on Highway 101.

Calvin Leroy Dailey, 32, of 69 Lomita Drive, Mill Valley, who was arrested Jan. 2 in Mill Valley, was placed on one year probation and fined $150.

James Harold Miller, 32, of San Francisco, was placed on one year probation and fined $100. He was arrested Dec. 1 in San Rafael.

Charles Felix Castro, 31, of 1441 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, who was arrested Dec. 7 on Highway 101, was placed on one year probation and fined $150.

Homeowner's Boundary Is Corrected

The San Anselmo Planning Commission untangled a legal knot last night when it granted a lot line shift sought to move a property line from the middle of Joseph Spanier's patio at 27 Indian Rock Court.

The lot line revision was sought by Marin County Savings and Loan Association, reported John T. O'Rourke, assistant city engineer. The firm took over adjoining undeveloped property after it went into receivership, only to find an error in earlier subdivision of the land which placed a property line 17 feet from where it was supposed to be--and squarely through Spanier's patio.

In last night's settlement, the savings and loan association gave a seven-foot slice of property to Spanier to get his house off their land, on condition that their now-reduced land still be a legal building site even if it became undersized because of the shift.

The planning commission also approved an application by Felice Guasco for outdoor display of nursery stock at Guasco Market, 100 Center Boulevard. The city design review board will consider plans for landscaping and remodeling of the building.

A variance sought by James G. McDonald for a proposed house at 22 Prospect Avenue was returned to McDonald for revision of plans.

Discussions of the proposed sign ordinance and a parking report were postponed until the March 16 meeting.

Novatans Study Access To Creeks

Methods of keeping Novato Creek open to pedestrian access were discussed last night by the Novato Beautification Committee, according to Chairman Gail Wilhelm.

Proposals include the installation of floating bridge-like platforms on the creek beneath the bridges so that pedestrians could safely follow the creek, she said. Two of the sites mentioned for such platforms are the present Highway 101 bridge and the future bypass bridge when it is constructed, she said. The committee hopes to keep pedestrian paths along all of the creeks in the city, she said.

The city public works department will make a study of the floating bridge platforms, she said.

Problems Session

A discussion of problems facing downtown Sausalito, including traffic and ordinance violations, will be sponsored by the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Alta Mira Hotel, not at 9 p.m. as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, March 3, the 62nd day of 1970 with 303 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1879 a woman lawyer practiced before the U.S. Supreme Court for the first time. She was Mrs. Belva Ann Lockwood.

In 1931 the Star Spangled Banner was designated by an act of Congress as the "National Anthem of the United States."

In 1945 German flying bombs were sent against the British Isles for the first time since the previous autumn. World War II was drawing to a close in Europe.

A thought for the day: Salmon Portland Chase said, "The only way of resumption is to resume."

Open Hearing On Principal Issue

Complaints by two parents against the principal of Granada School in Corte Madera will be heard in open session by the Reed School District board at 7 p.m. today in Bel Aire School.

Principal James I. Justeson, who has asked for the open hearing, has been accused of coercing a child whose parents asked for letter grades on the youngster's report card. The complaint was made by Mrs. and Mrs. Albert Y. Jones, 54 Sonora Way, Corte Madera.

Also to be discussed at the meeting is a proposed tax increase election.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Low Trumps Should Be Used When Ruffing Those Losers

All of my columns this week are devoted to ruffing losers in the dummy, a process that is more complicated than it seems. You can seldom afford to ruff your losing cards with dummy's high trumps because those cards are usually needed to extract the trumps of the defenders. You must arrange to ruff losers with trumps that wouldn't otherwise win tricks.

DIAMOND LEAD

West leads the jack of diamonds, and you notice that you may have to draw three rounds of trumps to exhaust those held by the defenders. If so, you will have to use dummy's ace and queen as well as your own king. If you want to ruff a loser in the dummy, you can safely do so with dummy's low trump but you cannot afford to ruff with either of dummy's high trumps.

Do you want to ruff anything in the dummy? Yes, you will almost surely need to ruff a club. The need won't arise if East has the ace of clubs and if each defender has precisely three clubs, but the odds are almost 5 to 1 against such luck.

WIN IN DUMMY

You must therefore win the first trump in dummy and start the clubs at once. West captures your king of clubs with the ace and leads the ten of trumps

Again, you must win in dummy. East discards a heart, and you see that you will eventually have to use your king of trumps to draw West's last trump. In the meantime you lead a club to the queen and return a club toward dummy.

NO MISCHIEF

West is out of clubs but cannot do any mischief. If West ruffs with the nine of diamonds, you can discard from the dummy and ruff a club later. Then you last club will be good. If West fails to ruff the third round of clubs, you can ruff in dummy and return to your hand with a heart to draw West's last trump. You will then have to give up a club, but your contract is still safe since you don't lose a trump trick.

DAILY QUESTION

S- K J 5
H- K J 9 6 4
D- 2
C- J 10 8 6

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts.

The hand is too strong for a raise to two spades, but not strong enough for a jump to three spades. Solve the problem by bidding your own suit first and raising spades later.

★ REAL ESTATE ★
SALESMEN!
You make more where the action and advertising are the greatest! Naturally your sales . . . and your commissions, are dependent on your ability to sell. But. . .a large part of your leads come through your broker's advertising and the activity generated by the firm you work for. Doesn't it make REAL SENSE for you to "GO WITH THE WINNER?" . . . the firm that month in and month out leads all others in sales, listings, leads. It doesn't cost YOU any more to go where the action is. . .where the money is to be made.
Naturally all inquiries will be kept in strictest confidence. Ask for BILL NELSON or BILL TIMMER at. . .

TIGHT MONEY?
NOT WITH US
FACTS: 30 year old internationally known Corp.—last year sold over 9 million of its products in the U.S. alone—AAA-1 rated—unheard of warranty, DESIRES man or woman to start part time with small investment of under two thousand dollars (secured by inventory) and work 2-4 hours per week-YOU must have excellent references, a car, and a definite desire to expand with a percentage of the profits on a planned program—Company sets up completely. NO SELLING — not vending—First time offered on this plan. Call collect. Mr. Richards (415)593-7844 or write giving phone number to Romara, Inc., P. O. Box 178, San Carlos, California 94070.

VENDING IS BIG BUSINESS

We have enjoyed 20 years of unparallelled integrity dealing with our customers. Our company is expanding again and requires distributors to service routes of vending machines.

ROUTES ESTABLISHED!

JUST PLAIN, OLD FASHIONED GOOD SERVICE!

Car is required! Six to ten hours per week can run a small route. Income commensurate with investment and effort. Earnings can grow to $1,000 per month with investment starting as little as $1,500.

Yes, we will consider part time operators who are looking for an ideal supplemental income situation, but he or she must be expansion minded. An intelligent company financing plan is afforded after initial investment.

Please do not waste your time or ours if you're looking to "play with a few vending machines." Sincere people who are prepared to follow this company's principles of "an honest day's pay for an honest day's work" may write.

Your first letter should contain sufficient references to verify. All letters are personally reviewed by Mr. Cecil Ussery, President and Chairman of the Board.

120—New Cars For Sale

No Matter Where You Buy Them!

The difference in new car deals comes in the dealer's cost of doing business. Obviously, the dealer with the lower overhead can make YOU, the customer, better deals. You don't find the showy new car "Palaces" in Marin County. It doesn't cost thousands of dollars just to open the massive front doors. With lower overhead, your Marin County dealer can pass these saving on to you.

Makes Sense, Doesn't It?

BEFORE THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Application of PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY for authority, among other things, to increase its rates and charges for electric service. (Electric)

Application No. 51552
(Filed December 15, 1969, Amended December 31, 1969)

NOTICE OF PREHEARING CONFERENCE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Prehearing Conference is scheduled in the above entitled matter before Commissioner Moran and Examiner Cline for Wednesday, March 18, 1970, at 10 a.m., in Room 1195, Commission Courtroom, State Building, 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco, California.

At this Prehearing Conference consideration will be give to:

(a) Formulating or simplifying the issues. Pacific Gas and Electric Company filed copies of its application and related exhibits on December 15, 1969. The amendment thereto was filed on December 31, 1969. On January 5, 1970, the applicant submitted to the Commission three additional proposed exhibits in this proceeding. If copies of the application and amendment and applicant's related exhibits and prepared testimony are desired, they may be obtained by contacting John C. Morrissey, Attorney, Pacific Gas and Electric Company, 245 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94106, Telephone No. (415)-781-4211. With a view toward the formulation and simplification of the potential issues in the proceeding, this material should be reviewed carefully prior to the Prehearing Conference.

(b) Specifying a schedule for the exchange of proposed exhibits and written testimony, and the reduction of oral testimony to written form. Any party who proposes to offer exhibits or prepared testimony should be ready to advise the parties at the Prehearing Conference when these documents will be available for distribution to the parties.

(c) Specifying the dates of hearing. The first hearings on the application are scheduled before Commissioner Moran and Examiner Cline for Wednesday, April 11, 1970, at 10 a.m., in Room 1195, Commission Courtroom, State Building, 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco, California, and also for Thursday, April 2, 1970, at 9:30 a.m., in San Francisco, for the purpose of permitting the applicant to offer direct testimony and to receive testimony from public witnesses. Further hearings for the reception of testimony from public witnesses are scheduled at 10 a.m., for the following dates and places:

Fresno Wednesday, April 8, 1970

Monterey Thursday, April 9, 1970

Eureka Thursday, April 16, 1970.

Red Bluff Friday, April 17, 1970.

(d) Establishing procedure at the hearing.

Ross To Seek $1 School Tax Rate Hike

Ross School District trustees last night called for a $1 hike in the district's general purpose tax rate and set an election on the boost for the June 2 ballot.

The measure, unanimously approved by the trustees, would hike the general purpose rate from $1.785 this school year to $2.785 per $100 assessed valuation next year, and the total tax rate, if all other levies remain constant, to $4.405 next year.

The measure was recommended last night by the district's finance study committee, according to Anderson.

An adjourned meeting will be held at 8 p.m. today at Ross School to appoint an election campaign committee.

The trustees also set a special meeting on next year's budget at 7:30 p.m. March 31. The next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. March 16.

Clerk Position Exams Slated

Examinations to fill clerical positions in the Marin County Public Social Services Department will be given May 2 by the Merit System Examining Agency.

Applications for the examination must be filed by April 3. Clerical jobs covered in the testing are for typists, account and general clerks and stenographers.

Dates For Annual Art Show Announced

The Bolinas-Stinson Beach annual art show will be March 22-29 from 1-5 p.m. at the Mesa Clubhouse in Bolinas, with entrants expected in photography, painting, jewelry, leather work and ceramics.

Entrance to the nonprofit affair is free. All of the art objects will be available for purchase.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Angina Attacks Prompted By The Blast Of Wintry Winds

Anyone with angina will have fewer attacks of chest pain if he avoids the cold. For the northerner, this means less exposure to wintry blasts by remaining home, dressing warmly, or traveling in a heated car, bus, or subway. Warm climates are wonderful alternatives but not always practicable.

At one time, it was believed that inhaling cold air had an adverse effect upon an ailing heart because it narrowed the coronary vessels or increased its work load. We know now that the air we breathe is warmed and humidified as it passes thru the nose and throat. Tests have shown that cold air is heated to within 1 or 2 degrees of body temperature by the time it reaches the windpipe.

A MORE RECENT theory is that the cold narrows the vessels in the extremities and increases the blood pressure. When this takes place the heart must work harder to force blood through the narrowed vessels. The added effort brings on angina because the heart muscle needs more oxygen (in blood) which the hardened coronary arteries cannot deliver.

This may not be the final answer to why individuals with angina develop clenching chest pain when exposed to cold. For example, the condition of the heart may be so poor that it cannot work harder when the body is exposed to cold. A more direct reflex initiated by the lower temperatures may stimulate the organ.

WALKING AGAINST the wind or up an incline may also play a role. Wearing a mask, or placing a muff or handkerchief over the mouth also helps, and more so, when the nose and sinuses are infected and unable to warm the incoming air.

But cold and exercise are not the only conditions that trigger anginal pain. The emotions are common culprits, especially anger. So don't get upset with the weather or with the social upheaval in our country.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

DIETING WHEN ANEMIC

REPLY

Yes, but she should continue to receive iron or vitamin B12 depending upon the type of anemia. These products have no calories and will not hinder the dietary regimen. Moreover, the blood-building items, such as meats and fruits, are not so high in calories as most of the low-iron foods.

OVERSLEEP AND HEADACHE

A. L. writes: Whey do I wake up with a headache if I sleep more than the usual eight hours?

REPLY

This question is difficult to answer. Headache may stem from whatever is making you oversleep, including overfatigue, a cold involving the sinuses, or the letdown that follows a strenuous week at home, the office, or the plant.

LIVING WITH MIGRAINE

V. G. wirtes: What advice can you give a person who suffers from migraine?

REPLY

Relax and write for our leaflet on migraine that discusses various plans of management. It can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

LOW TEMPERATURE

V. D. R. wirtes: Is it dangerous for an 85-year-old man to have a subnormal temperature? It varies from one to one and a half degrees.

REPLY

No. Most of us have a subnormal reading in the morning. It rises to 98.6 by 4 p.m. and thereafter returns to normal.

Inmates Want Art Show At Civic Center

Warden S. Nelson made the request in a letter to John F. McInnis, chairman of the board of supervisors.

The art show would be held from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

"We are requesting the use of your facility due to our art show's tremendous growth through the years which now necessitates an additional outlet for art productions by inmates," the warden explained.

Riot Charges Trial Slated

One of the persons arrested during the Feb. 14 riot outside the Independent-Journal plant in San Rafael yesterday was set to go to trial the week of March 30 in Marin Superior Court.

Robert Henry Watkins, 20, of Lynn Haven, pleaded innocent to charges of felony assault on an officer, participating in a riot and unlawful assembly.

Watkins is the only one of the 12 persons arrested who has remained in jail. He has an Army hold on him because he was AWOL at the time of his arrest.

Six Months Given In Sale Of Pot

Jean Paul Pickens, 32, of Forest Knolls, yesterday was sentenced by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court to six months in jail and placed on one year probation for selling a kilo of marijuana to a narcotics agent.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman asked yesterday that Pickens receive a one-year sentence saying that the probation report showed he had been "heavily involved in the distribution of drugs." Pickens' attorney, Carl B. Shapiro, argued against any jail time, saying that Pickens had a clean record until his arrest in February, 1968.

Pickens had earlier admitted the marijuana sale and a charge of selling a plastic bag of methedrine to a drug agent was dismissed.

Solo Auditions Are Planned

Preliminary auditions for Marin music students interested in becoming soloists in the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra youth concerts will be held at 4 p.m. Friday at the San Domenico School in Sleepy Hollow.

All parochial, private and public school students attending elementary, junior high or senior high schools are eligible.

Those interested in auditioning may telephone Ruth Johnson at the San Francisco Symphony Association offices in San Francisco for further information and audition appointments.

Baty Picks Up Ballot Papers

Baty, who lives on Bear Valley Road in Point Reyes Station and maintains a San Rafael law practice, was appointed to the position in 1959 and elected in 1964.

Richardson Bay Plan Due BCDC

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO—Marin County's controversial "specific plan" for the development of Richardson Bay will be heard by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission at 2 p.m. on Thursday in Room 1194 of the State Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue.

The plan permits each property owner in the 185-acre area from the Richardson Bay Bridge to Sausalito to fill up to 40 per cent of his existing open water, and would allow some 12-story high-rise buildings.

Conservationists generally oppose any high-rise in the plan, and want to cut back the amount of fill allowed. Property owners have been opposing paying for dredging Sausalito Canal until they know what development will be allowed by BCDC.

Air Pollution Hearing Is Set

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — More than a dozen citizens groups concerned with air pollution are slated to air their grievances before Bay Area Pollution Control District directors at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Richmond City Hall, Civic Center and MacDonald Avenue.

The district has been under mounting fire from critics contending it has done an inadequate job of controlling pollution.

The Richmond meeting was aksed by the Contra Costa Legal Services Foundation, which said its clients could not afford to attend board meetings in San Francisco. The foundation has been attacking the district, alleging that poor people living near industries in Contra Costa County get the brunt of air pollution.

HEMORRHOIDS
by easing the pressure-pain and irritation of elimination...inside and out

Contemporary, Folk Song Slated

Recording artist Betsy Chapman of San Anselmo will present a public concert combining folk and contemporary song Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Belvedere.

A guitarist, Mrs. Chapman was the organizer of the guitar choir at St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. She will be accompanied Sunday by guitar and rhythm bass.

Mrs. Chapman and her husband, Len, work with the Catholic Youth Organization, and many of her appearances have been under its auspices. Her songs, however, are not religious per se. They cover many aspects of life, and some are her own compositions.

The young musician is widely known through her performances on the Sunday morning Heritage television series, and more recently through her album, "Gift of Love."

Praszker Not Keeping Seat On Planners

In a letter to the supervisors, Praszker expressed regrets he could not serve another term. He said pressure of his business and his frequent travels abroad prevent his serving on the planning body.

He commended the planning department staff as "highly competent."

"While they may not have all the answers to what ails the county planningwise, they make their thinking clear so that the Board (of supervisors) and the people of Marin can choose the best points presented and reject the bad ones as they see fit," said Praszker.

Tomales Bay Rezoning Nod

Herbert Angress, who wants to develop a restaurant, lodge and residences including campgrounds on his Marshall ranch, last night won commercial zoning for about 10 acres of property on the water side of Shoreline Highway.

Marin County Planning Commissioners granted commercial zoning for a small portion of his 109-acre property on a motion by Niels Schultz Jr., followed by a 6 to 0 vote. Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley had gone home at 6 p.m.

Attorney Gilbert Medeiros, representing Angress, asked for both a rezoning and approval of a master plan for the entire development, which is called Tomales Bay Farm.

Theft At Center

Tools and construction supplies valued at $220 were stolen between 5 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday from a construction shed at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Marin County Civic Center, police said today.

Marinview Neighbors Shout Disappointment

Irate parents of Tamalpais Valley stormed out of the Marin County Planning Commission meeting last night, shouting "Power to the people!" after an unsuccessful attempt to block the main access to Marinview subdivision. (Another planning commission story, page 1)

The master plan for the 780-unit subdivision in Tamalpais Valley came to a vote at 8:30 p.m. with only four of the seven commissioners present. Chairman Michael Praszker sided with the objectors, but he was outvoted by Margaret Azevedo, Niels Schultz Jr., and Jack G. Nixon.

"San Fernando Valley is now moving into Marin," shouted Mrs. Judith Hanks as she stalked out of the room. "I'm really disappointed with the board (planning commission.)"

Another resident complained that commissioners had not stayed for the vote. Eugene P. Trombley and Hugh Dougherty left shortly after 6 p.m., and Walter F. Freitas called it quits about 7 p.m.

Last night's approval of Marinview subdivision carries several conditions imposed on Allan-Marin Co., the developer. A second access on Tennessee Valley Road, about a thousand feet south of the main Bell Lane entrance, must be provided, and no more than 285 units shall be built until the second entrance is opened for traffic.

A. R. Allan, president of Allan-Marin, also agreed to set aside 150 apartments and 75 townhouses as moderate income housing to be developed through federal aid.

The main entrance, called Enterprise Concourse, which intersects Bell Lane near Tamalpais Valley School, drew the biggest protest.

Mrs. Kurt Levi presented a protest petition with 256 signatures. She said the master plan should be revised so that the major traffic will bypass Tamalpais Valley School. She and other residents, plus school officials, declared that cars using Enterprise Concourse would endanger children crossing the road to get to and from school.

Attorney Albert Bianchi and Engineer Kenneth A. Frost, representing the developer, reported that the projected traffic at the intersection is 2,350 cars per day, whereas the countywide average at other school crossings is 5,600. Los Ranchitos Road at Oliver Hartzell School has an average daily traffic of 6,300, Frost reported.

A curve has been shaped at the entrance to Marinview to force cars to slow to 20 miles per hour, and stop signs will be located at the intersection, the engineer added.

A dozen other residents urged the commission to relocate the main entrance or block it completely so that residents of Marinview will be forced to take the southern entrance.

A couple of residents supported the development master plan, explaining they are satisfied with the second access and other conditions imposed.

Among supporters were Charles Norton, president of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club, and Arthur Crebassa, representing the Tamalpais Community Services District and the Tamalpais Valley Fire Protection District.

Classes Set To Train Volunteers

A class to train volunteers to work with mental health patients will be held March 31, April 3 and May 5 at 9 a.m. in Room 206 of the Marin Association for Mental Health Office, 1368 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Reservations for the course should be made before March 27 through the association. The class will be limited to 15 persons.

Slope Rules Revised For Sleepy Hollow

A more strict lot-slope policy for Sleepy Hollow was recommended yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

After a series of votes split 5 to 2 and 4 to 3, the majority of the commissioners decided on this slope policy for Sleepy Hollow:

1. Where the ground slope is 15 per cent or less, the minimum lot area will be 15,000 square feet.

2. Where ground slope is between 15 and 45 per cent, a thousand feet of additional lot area will be added for each 1 per cent of slope.

3. Where slope is more than 45 per cent, lots must be 45,000 square feet.

At present minimum lot sizes in Sleepy Hollow are either one acre or 15,000 square feet. The 15,000 is allowed if the lot has at least 100 feet of street frontage. Under this requirement, a 15,000 square foot lot could be created on the steepest slopes, just so it had 100 feet of street frontage.

The recommended slope policy for Sleepy Hollow will go to the Marin County Board of Supervisors for approval.

CYO Upset Stirs Fans In Fairfax

Judging by the phone calls, there hasn't been so much excitement out there in the wilds of Fairfax since the town wino took a nap on the third rail and became the Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

I mean, when the St. Rita's School eighth grade basketball team knocked off mighty St. Anselm's of San Anselmo in Catholic Youth Organization tournament play Sunday it was an electrifying upset.

I've heard from a lot of Fairfaxians because, as I noted here recently, the San Anselmo team hadn't lost a game in Marin County in five years. Twice previously this season St. Anselm's beat St. Rita's, but by the barest of margins—once in the final three seconds of play, then again in overtime, so Sunday's upset unleashed a lot of frustrations.

Coach of St. Rita's is Donald R. Giesen of Sleepy Hollow who was a member of USF's Cinderella 1949 National Invitation Tournament champion squad. It should also be noted that one of Giesen's ex-USF teammates, Albert "Cappy" Lavin, has a son playing in CYO basketball. For St. Anselm's eighth grade team. (My, but it indeed is an infinitesimal universe.)

St. Rita's and St. Anselm's square off again, probably Friday night at Marin Catholic High, for the right to represent Marin in the Bay Area CYO tournaments.

They'll Be Yelling Heads Off

I imagine there will be a lot of happy and excited people there, yelling their heads off for the young schoolboys. And in these times, isn't that beautiful?

A LOT OF Novato High School parents are happy with today's resignation of basketball coach Bill Aires, a controversial figure all season. Let's just say the heat was on the fiery coach whose sideline deportment and abusive treatment of his players had a few fathers ready to lace on the gloves.

Said one father: "It got so that he was jumping and screaming and swearing and drawing technical fouls. He didn't play any favorites—every player caught real hell at one time or another. There are some boys in Novato who just won't play for him. It got so that the latter part of the season the kids became confused and all shook up and he 'built' what should have been a first division team into a seventh place finish."

It Was 'Mutually Agreeable'

Athletic director Al Scott said Aires' resignation was "mutually agreeable." Aires has withheld comment until after I-J deadline today. So, in order to get a scoop, I shall boldly predict his statement of resignation will declare: "I resign."

ED JONES OF Greenbrae reminds USC alumni of Marin County that the annual USC Bay Area Alumni Association's annual football awards dinner is this Thursday. Today is deadline for reservations. O. J. Simpson will be there.

THEY'RE CALLING Marinite Tom Stetson "Deadeye" on the University of Alaska campus these days because he finished the 1969-70 season as the most accurate shooter on the Nanook varsity basketball team—hitting 48.7 of his field goal attempts and 70.9 pct. from the foul line.

Redwood Dominates All-League Team

Redwood High School's two-year MCAL champs dominated this year's all-league team as picked by MCAL coaches, landing three players on a six-man first team, getting a number one sub on the honorable mention list and landing the league's outstanding player.

Jerry Piro, the 6 foot-1 senior forward who got plenty of preseason kudos, got a few more from MCAL coaches, being named the league's outstanding player and topping the all-league team, which also included 6-3 Roger Smith, the smooth-shooting senior forward, and scrappy guard John Boro.

Piro, Smith and Boro were members of last year's Redwood MCAL champs, and Piro was also on last year's all-league team.

Joining the Redwood trio on the first team were Dana LaFerriere of San Marin, the 6-8 junior center who was the league's top scorer; Bill Secor of Tamalpais, the No. 2 scorer in the league, and 6-8 Don Duryee of San Rafael, who impressed so many people even though he missed five league games.

Second team picks were spread out over five schools. Three of them were juniors—guard Joe DeMaestri of Novato, center Joe Casteel of Terra Linda and high-scoring Jeff Meeker of Drake. Also on the second squad were San Rafael guard Bruce Nave and Tamalpais guard Ken Gommeringer, who closed out his career with a 39-point outburst against Marin Catholic.

Announcer Christman Dies At 51

CHICAGO (UPI) — Funeral arrangements were to be made today for Paul Christman, a former All-America football player at the University of Missouri and football commentator on radio and television.

Christman, 51, died of a heart attack at Lake Forest Hospital in surburban Lake Forest Monday. He was taken to the hospital's cardiac care unit about midnight Saturday.

Christman played quarterback for the Chicago Cardinals, now the St. Louis Cardinals, when they won their only National Football League championship in 1947. He was in the Cards' "dream" backfield with Elmer Angsman, Charlie Trippi and Pat Harder.

From 1959-67 Christman broadcast both college and American Football League games with ABC and NBC before he joined CBS as a football commentator and analyst.

He is survived by his widow, Inez, two sons and a daughter. A wake was scheduled at Wenban Funeral Home, Lake Forest.

McCormick In Exhibition Opening Role

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) —Mike McCormick has been selected to pitch the San Francisco Giants' first exhibition game of the spring Friday against the Chicago Cubs.

McCormick, a 31-year-old lefty starting his 15th major league season, was named Monday by Giants manager Clyde King. McCormick was 11-9 last season with a 3.65 earned run average.

King was forced to call off Monday's workouts when a rainstorm drenched the Giants' four playing fields. One day earlier, an intra-squad game was limited to four innings by a dusty wind storm.

Willie McCovey, last year's Most Valuable Player in the National League, went to Los Angeles Monday for a precautionary examination of his left knee. The knee has given McCovey problems intermittently through his career, but right now he doesn't appear to be in serious trouble.

Two newcomers arrived in the Giants camp Monday. They are rookie pitchers Miguel Puente and Don Carrithers. Puente compiled an impressive last season for Amarillo in class AAK ball. Carrithers was 3-12 with a 6.14 ERA for Phoenix.

SLIM PICKING IN MARIN FISHING

Eleven-year-old Birgit Wiegandt of Mill Valley didn't have much luck on the opening of trout season at Rodeo Lagoon over the weekend, tossing back this sub-catchable. It was a slow and confusing opener for most trout anglers. See Al Giddings' Fish and Game report on page 30.

Novato's Bill Aires Resigns

Bill Aires, Novato High School's fiery basketball coach, will not be back as the school's head cage coach next year.

Aires has turned in his resignation by what Al Scott, Novato athletic director, described as "mutual agreement" with Scott and Novato High School principal Stanley Onderdonk.

Aires said that he would make a statement on his resignation this afternoon.

Aires has besn the school's head basketball coach since 1966. His team last year made a run at the Marin County Athletic League title, losing a title tie in a stirring battle with Redwood in the season finale.

This year's team, after making a promising showing in pre-season play, stayed mired near the vicinity of the league cellar, finishing seventh in the eight-team league.

Scott declined to make any official comment on Aires' resignation, while Onderdonk was unavailable for comment, despite repeated calls.

A's Green Agrees To Terms

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Dick Green, the Oakland Athletics veteran fancy fielding second baseman, was due in training camp today from his home at Rapid City, S.D., leaving only Reggie Jackson and relief pitcher Juan Pizarro unsigned.

Outfielder Jackson, who hit 47 home runs last season, has been watching the action from the stands while waiting for owner Charles O. Finley to sweeten up his contract offer.

Rain stopped Monday's workout, which would have been the first for Ramon Webster who came to terms with Finley by telephone Sunday night. Webster, 27, the A's regular first baseman in 1968, lost the job to Dan Cater, who went to the New York Yankees.

AT SONOMA STATE

Field Nearly Set For Prep Tourney

With one exception, the field for the first Top of the Bay Basketball Classic slated this weekend at Sonoma State College has been set. . .with Petaluma and Sonoma high schools drawing the toughest opponents.

Petaluma will open the eight-team tourney at 4 p.m. Thursday against Del Norte High School of Crescent City, champion of the Humboldt-Del Norte League.

NEWMAN

North Bay II champ Cardinal Newman (Santa Rosa) will meet the yet-to-be-decided Foothill Athletic League representative at 5:30.

Sonoma drew tough Livermore, runners-up in the East Bay Athletic League, at 7 p.m. and NBL-I kingpin Montgomtry (Santa Rosa) meets North Coast champion Fort Bragg at 8:30.

Petaluma, second place finishers in North Bay I with a 9-3 mark, has victories over two entrants—Montgomery and Cardinal Newman—and has been beaten by Sonoma this season. Led by center Ross Goree, an all-league choice and second in NBL-I scoring the Trojans boast a quick offense with all-league forward Joe Rodola, Dave Thomas, and guards Steve Hing and Dave Adams.

Cardinal Newman's opponent will be decided tonight as there are three teams in contention for the foothill runnerup spot and its berth in the TOB classic Miramonte (15-0) has clinched the league title and is headed for the tournament of champions in Oakland, but Del Calle (11-4), Campolindo (11-4) and Acalanes (10-5) are battling for second.

Sonoma, led by high-scoring juniors Rick Romberg and Dan Briggs, brings a 10-2 league mark in against Livermore. Livermore knocked off previously unbeaten, TOC bound Amador 63-47 Friday night to clinch the berth.

MONTGOMERY

Montgomery of Santa Rosa meets NCL-1 champ Fort Bragg in the final lower-bracket game. The Vikings won the NBL-1 crown with a 10-2 league mark. Fort Bragg clinched its berth Friday night by turning back Upper Lake 55-46.

The winners will meet Friday night in the semifinal round, with first-round losers entering consolation play Friday afternoon. The title game will be Saturday night.

Petaluma or Sonoma High School students may purchase tickets at their schools today and tomorrow. They cost 75 cents when purchased with a student body card at the school, $1.50 at the tournament. All adult admissions will be $1.50.

UOP's Edwards Wins Coach Of Year Honor

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ccach Dick Edwards of University of the Pacific has been named Coach-of-the-Year by Northern California basketball writers and broadcasters and three of his players are among the 11 selected for all-star honors.

Edwards' team has a 20-4 over-all record and, at 10-2 in the West Coast Athletic Conference, is tied at the top with Santa Clara.

Santa Clara's captain, Dennis Awtrey, 6-foot-10 senior center, was chosen Player-of-the-Year for the second year in a row, receiving a unanimous vote on the first ballot.

Ralph Ogden, 6-foot-5 forward and also a senior, was Santa Clara's other first-team representative. He has averaged 21.8 points a game to Awtrey's 21.1.

Bill Stricker, 6-foot-8 UOP senior center, was runnerup to Awtrey in the voting.

He and Ogden shared player-of-the-week honors. Ogden scored 61 points in two victories and Stricker 62.

Ogden hit on 17 of 26 field goal attempts against Pepperdine, and Stricker, who is averaging 21.3 points a game, made 17 of 24 against Nevada Las Vegas.

All-star second-team members picked were junior guards Bob Thomason of UOP, Charlie Johnson of Cal and Dennis O'Neil of Stanford and sophomore centers John Gianelli of UOP and Ansley Truitt of Cal, both 6-foot-9.

Wynn Holding Out For More Money

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Wynn, who breaks down fences during the baseball season, is still trying to crack the Houston Astros' strong box—and running into a stone wall.

THREE ASTROS

Wynn is among three Astros regulars yet unenrolled. The others are Tommy Davis, two-time National League batting king, and Larry Dierker, Houston's first 20-game winner.

The rest of baseball's holdout force faded with a couple of front-liners signing Monday. The Los Angeles Dodgers signed Don Sutton, their 11-game winner, and utilityman Len Gabrielson, and Cincinnati got All-Star infielder Tony Perez back in town.

Tom McCraw, the Chicago White Sox' veteran infielder, signed, but said he wasn't happy about the terms.

"A change in scenery would help me," he said.

WORRY

In the Cleveland camp, the Indians cast a worried eye at ace right-hander Dean Chance, who came up with a shoulder ailment.

"If Dean still has trouble two weeks from now, then we (the Indians) have trouble," said Alvin Dark, the Cleveland manager.

Chance, a no-hit pitcher with Minnesota, was acquired in a multiple-player swap during the winter and was expected to be the No. 2 starter on the Cleveland staff.

"This isn't the same thing I had last year," said Chance, who spent more than six weeks of the season on the disabled list with arm and shoulder trouble. "Last year the pain was in the back of my shoulder. I know this is going to be okay."

Dr. Vic Ippolito, the Cleveland physician, said he gave Chance an injection of cortisone to relax the knotted muscle in front of the shoulder and believed the ailment would disappear in a few days.

INJURIES

Bob Allison and Rod Carew, two Minnesota regulars, were out with flu Mack Jones, the Montreal Expos' slugging outfielder, was missing after catching his right thumb in a car door and Joe Lahoud, Boston's utility outfielder, was sub-par with a pulled back muscle.

Ramos To Defend Lightweight Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mando Ramos of Los Angeles, the youngest man ever to win the lightweight crown, faces Panama's Ismael Laguna, an ex-champion, tonight in his second title defense.

Local oddsmakers consider the fight even but Laguna, who won and lost the 135-pound championship in 1965, is a 3-1 choice in New York and a 9-5 favorite in Las Vegas.

"Laguna is a dull fighter," the young champion said. "He runs. I don't think he could hit hard enough to hurt me. I will knock him out. In about the 11th or 12th."

Laguna, unmarked after nine years as a pro and with a 61-6 record, appeared confident of regaining the title he lost to Carlos Ortiz in November of 1965.

The Panamanian figures he can outbox Ramos.

"I'm the bullfighter and he's the bull," said Laguna, who won the lightweight crown from Ortiz April 10, 1965.

Both fighters claimed they would win by a knockout in the scheduled 15-rounder at the Sports Arena.

MARIN GOLF NOTES

A Rash Of Holes In One

Aces, aces, everybody's got aces.

There were a bunch of them last week, with four holes in one carded on Marin County golf courses, two of them on the same course and the same hole, with the same kind of club.

Ray Cook of San Rafael got one Sunday on Marin Country Club's 15th hole, a 150-yard shot, using an eight-iron. Glen Groth, S. D. Burt and Alex Kazakoff were witnesses to the feat.

Earlier in the week, veteran Marin County golfer Kai Thomsen carded an ace on the same hole, also using an eight-iron, and finishing with a nice three under par 69 to top things off. Shoe merchant Irving Chapman was the witness.

San Rafael High School football and basketball player Tom McGrath got a hole in one on the seventh hole at San Geronimo, good for a 170-yard shot with a six-iron a week ago Saturday. Jerry Miller was the witness.

Another veteran golfer, distaff type, also got a hole in one last week. Mrs. Bo Johnson got hers on the second hole at Las Gallinas Golf Course using a nine-iron during the Las Gallinas Women's Golf Club's regular tournament.

MRS. ARTHUR BRODIE took Class A honors in that tourney, while Mrs. Fred Laubscher was tops in Class B and Mrs. Okley Dexter was best in Class C.

THE FOURSOME of Mesdames Charles Gondak, Richard Warrington, Billy Roberts and F. E. Greenland took the Marin Country Club's Women's Golf Club's best ball foursome tourney Thursday with a 60.

MRS. G. W. RISDON was tops in Class A at the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club's nine-hole tourney Thursday with a net 27½. Mrs. E. J. Halm was tops in Class B with a 29½.

THE FOURSOME of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warrington and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Altermatt captured the Marin Country Club's mixed foursome tourney Sunday with a net 65.

MARIN COUNTRY Club, incidentally, is going into the team competition field.

They've formed a league with Richmond Country Club, Round Hill Country Club and Mira Vista Country Club to compete on a round-robin basis of eight matches on Fridays.

Each team will have 16 members, including the club pro. Marin Country Club will hold a playoff for the team spots Saturday. For more information, contact team captain Jim Wieder at Marin Country Club.

SOME 150 golfers are expected to turn out tomorrow at Peacock Gap in San Rafael for the IBM of San Francisco tournament.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

There's Some Confusion On 1970 Trout Opening

An interesting weekend even though the winds and rain kept lots of people home.

There was some confusion on the opening of trout season under the new 1970 regulations. The Fish and Game Commission set a year-round trout season starting March 1 in all the lakes and reservoirs of Marin County, but the Marin Municipal Water District won't open its lakes until probably May 2 when the regular trout season opens.

The trout year-round limit in the lakes and reservoirs is five trout except during the regular season when the limit is ten. The streams in Marin County open May 2 which gives the yearling steelhead in the streams a chance to get to the ocean, usually during April and before the opening of trout season.

Sunday which was opening day, I saw Judge David Baty of Pt. Reyes along with his son Tucker giving one of the lakes in the National Seashore area a go for trout. We had some conversation about the column. He suggested I use short sentences for clarity. I stopped by his residence later for a cup of coffee, questioning his wife (a smart lady) about this. The judge's daughter, Katie, who was listening in, picked up a local newspaper in which the judge had written a legal article. The very first sentence had 50 words in it. Now that gave us all a belly laugh. Enough said?

THE FISHING? Pretty sad. Three anglers at Drake's Bay had no trout, 14 anglers at another lake near Drake's Beach had a total of three. Two anglers at White House Pool (a closed area) had nothing, luckily for them, and six anglers fishing another closed creek had nothing, except that as I arrived one young fellow was landing a steelhead. I told him the creek was closed so he nicely released the fish. This might be influencing people but it's not how to win friends.

At Rodeo Lagoon, one angler said three anglers took limits but the weather was too cold and windy. Rodeo Lagoon will be planted one day this week. Considering everything, this was one trout opening where the expression "It didn't pay to get out of bed" seems most fitting!

Last Thursday, "Big Fred" DeVito of Fairfax took Marty Medin and me out in his 24-foot Thunderbird "Formula" boat just to prove to himself that all these fish catching yarns were all lies, because usually he can't catch his hat.

BIG FRED brought his bride along (that's what he called her all through the day) though I think they've been married 10 years or so. (He talked about his son too!) We tried below the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge for two hours. Bullheads and crabs! It was loaded, so we moved up off the China Camp area. It was just starting on the incoming tide about 10 a.m. (Check your tide book!) We baited up thinking sturgeon, but, boy, did the bass hit. The water had warmed up, I guess, and we hit it just right.

We caught four limits of bass in jig time. Marty and I even tried our experiment, giving Dolores (the bride) a long casting rod and a Peun Squidder reel so she could outcast us. We call it long lining. She murdered the bass! We finally had to "con" her, telling her that when the tide really ran it was best to fish under the boat. This put her back on our par. We also caught six flounders and only one bullhead. As the day ended, Fred gave us a test speed run. Good grief, it was like being in a jet. I think we hit 40 miles per hour. It felt like being in an express train.

AT LOCH LOMOND, Bob Maeger, the harbor master there, came over to see the catch. When I told him we had 12 stripers, he wouldn't leave until we unloaded just to see. You know what? A brand new scale that goes up to 200 pounds was up.

Sam Knoles bought the thing, naturally charging it to Loch Lomond, but Sam put it up and a good job he did, too. We broke the scale in with our fish with weights of 20, 18, 18, 17, 15, 10 and a half-dozen 6-pounders.

Now I had talked to Joe Mello earlier, and he seemed despondent at the lack of bass this year, so we headed over to Al Fleming's Mobil Station at Santa Venetia where Joe works. That old Portuguese face really lit up when he saw the fish. So this week, when you see a Skip Jack boat out there, that will be Joe and his wife Molly sacking 'em up!

INCIDENTALLY, that Molly Mello closed out the season with a limit of three big steelhead at Walker Creek. One fresh fish and two downstreamers. I guess that makes Molly, with 15 steelhead for the season, high man–I mean high "Woman" for the year. I also saw one guy reeling one in at Papermill Creek the last day, which was Saturday.

SALMON FISHERMEN at Sausalito also had a good week with most of the anglers averaging two fish apiece. Most fish running to six or so pounds.

WOULD YOU believe it? There were two sturgeon caught off the rock wall at Fort Baker by shore fishermen. The fish were 60-pounders. There's herring spawn on the rocks there, and sturgeon go where either the shrimp or the herring spawn is. You've gotta start thinking like a fish!

Mike Hill Moves To Second Spot In Golf Winnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Hill, winner of the Doral-Eastern Open, has pulled into second place among golf's money winners, the Professional Golfers Association of America said Monday.

Hill, who collected $30,000 for his victory in Miami Sunday, trails front-running Bruce Devlin with $32,599. Devlin tied for third in the Doral and pocketed $7,950 for an over-all total of $35,386.

1, Bruce Devlin, $35,386; 2, Mike Hill, $32,599; 3, Pete Brown, $32,171; 4, Lee Trevino, $29,091; 5, Billy Casper, $27,248; 6. Bert Yancey, $26,052; 7. Jack Nicklaus, $25,966; 8. Ron Cerrudo, $24,570; 9. Dale Douglass, $22,323; 10. Bob Lunn, $21,718.

Seals Call Up Winger

OAKLAND (AP) — With three players ailing, the Oakland Seals have recalled Barry Boughner from Providence for tonight's game in the arena against the Toranto Maple Leafs.

The Leafs, in last place in the National Hockey League's East Divison, are smarting from an 8-0 loss to the Minnesota North Stars.

The Seals, just back from a road trip, have a three-game losing string. Their chance at the West Division playoffs is threatened by the North Stars who are only three points back in fifth. Tonigth's game is at 8 o'clock.

Pat Schafer Top Cage Scorer For Marin Tars

Pat Schafer, the sleek Tamalpais High School graduate, was the No. 1 College of Marin basketball ace this past season, no doubt about it.

Schafer will be missed next season, but Pat Purcell, the guard from Terra Linda High School, will be back.

Purcell came on strong in the latter part of the season and finished third behind Schafer and Tom Seidenberg among Tar Scorers with an 8.2 average, passing veterans Bob Tait and Daryl Ravani.

The final scoring statistics:

	G	FG	TP	Avg.
Pat Schafer	26	156	455	17.3
Tom Seidenberg	26	97	47	241 9.2
Pat Purcell	26	80	54	212 8.2

Army Among New Teams In NIT

NEW YORK — Six more berths remain to be filled for the 16-team National Invitation Basketball Tournament which gets under way March 13 at Madison Square Garden.

Army, the nation's leading defensive team which has allowed an average of 52 points in posting a 19-5 record this season, was among the six teams that joined the field yesterday.

Also named were Manhattan, 16-7, Duquesne 17-6 and winner of 11 of its last 12 games; Utah, 17-9 and runnerup in the Western Athletic Conference; Georgetown, 18-7 and Miami of Ohio, 15-7.

Previously named were Louisiana State, Georgia Tech, Marquette and St. John's of New York.

In other basketball news:

SAN DIEGO — Forward Toby Kimball of the San Diego Rockets has been fined for remarks which management deemed detrimental to the National Basketball Association team.

Kimball was fined for alleged statements in a postgame radio interview after a 147-124 loss to Boston, in which he reportedly said that "we were outhustled, outrun, outrebounded — the works."

"We're depending too much on Elvin Hayes. And, of course, Elvin's weakness is he doesn't pass the ball too much. He can score his 35-40 but we're not going to win ball games."

Football

NEW ORLEANS — The New Orleans Saints delt tight end Jim Hester and an undisclosed draft choice to the Chicago Bears for defensive lineman Lloyd Phillips, and traded center Frank Archlewiski to the Buffalo Bills for an undisclosed draft choice.

Golf

MIAMI — National Airlines announced yesterday that its $200,000 golf tournament will be played March 23-29 as scheduled, despite a prolonged strike by the Airline Employees Association.

The airlines said an understanding was reached between the company and the National Broadcasting Company not to televise the tournament, presumably because of concern that the strikers would picket in front of the cameras.

Tennis

HAMPTON, Va. — Tom Gorman of Seattle defeated Chile's number one players, Jaime Fillol, 9-7, 6-4, and Clark Graebner of New York City turned back Jim Osborne of Honolulu, 6-1, 12-10 in opening round matches of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association's 69th Indoor Championships.

Warriors Vs. Knicks Tonight

NE WYORK (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, trying tonight to end a five-game losing string, will have to do it against the National Basketball Association's best club, the New York Knicks.

The Warriors beat the Knicks last October but have lost four to them since then. New York's 54 victories for the season so far is twice the total for the Warriors, who have dropped 10 of their last 11.

Since star center Nate Thurmond went out with a knee injury Jan. 16, San Francisco has won only six of 25 games.

Telephone Offering Good For Conservative Buyers

BY ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. What is your opinion of the debenture-warrant proposal by American Telephone? I own 280 shares of Telephone and am wondering whether to purchase the debenture. — C.B.

A. The imaginative new financing announced by American Telephone will ultimately provide in excess of $3 billion additional capital. $1.57 billion will be realized from the 30-year debentures. Attached warrants will purchase 31.4 million additional common shares.

As a shareholder you will be entitled to purchase a $100 debenture for each 35 shares held. In your case this would mean $800 in debentures with warrants to purchase 16 shares of common. The warrants, which cannot be exercised for six months after issue, will have a 5-year life. Prices at which they will be able to be exercised have not yet been announced.

Total dilution from the eventual exercise of warrants will amount to only 5.7 per cent — equal to 22 cents on 1969 fiscal year earnings of $4 a share. Although the coupon rate for the debenture has not been announced, based on current rates it is reasonable to assume a yield in the vicinity of 8 per cent. For investors holding Telephone for income, the additional yield—common shares are yielding less than 5.5 per cent—will be welcome. This offer is well worth accepting.

Q. I have never seen any mention of the notes offered by American Investment Co. They are 10-year call-protected and mature in 20 years. The yield to maturity is around 9.25 per cent. What do you think of them? — F.A.

A. These 8.75 per cent notes carry a BBB rating, the lowest category eligible for commerical bank investment. An unimpressive earning record may account for the rating assigned to the company's notes. The 10-year call protection is qualified after Aug. 1, 1974, both under indenture terms and by the sinking fund. Previous offerings by American Investment have been privately placed. This NYSE-listed debt issue is not actively traded. I would favor purchase if you can find a floating supply at your price.

Offshore Drilling

CHICAGO (UPI)—Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) has announced it is planning a major offshore drilling program in the waters off Trinidad. A second drill rig will be assigned to the area, where gas and crude oil already have been found and 11 wells have been drilled so far.

Big Bank Loan

CHICAGO (UPI) — Commonwealth United Corp. has obtained $13.5 million in 24-month bank loan commitments from three unidentified banks.

Wall Street Has Slender Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed a slender gain late this afternoon in moderate trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 2 p.m., with an hour of trading ahead, was up 2.70 to 782.93.

Helmerich & Payne Inc. was trading on the Big Board, up 2 to 19. The company said the activity might be due to "encouraging results" in Texas oil drilling that it was conducting.

Among American Stock Exchange prices were Leisure Technology, off ⅞ to 23⅝; Pepi Inc., off 2¾ to 35¾, Alaska Interstate, up 1¾ to 23⅜; Digital Equipment, off 4¾ to 102, and American Medical Enterprises, off 1½ to 28½.

Manufacturing Shows Decline

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The value of California's manufacturing industries dropped $630 million last month, due largely to declining production of vehicles and other metal equipment, according to the Bank of California.

In a report issued Tuesday, the bank said manufacturing industries added $25.48 billion to the gross state product in January, compared with $26.11 billion in December.

The bank said the chief cause of the waning growth of the state's metal industries was a further decrease in production of transportation equipment, already down 14 per cent from a year ago.

Firm Arranges To Borrow $50 Million

NEW YORK (UPI)—City Investing co. said recently its subsidiary, City Rheem International, in Europe has arranged to borrow up to $50 million for seven years from Societe Financiere Eurepeene of Paris.

Contract Obtained For Mining Field

SAN FRANCISCO (BW)—Toledo Mining Co. of San Francisco and Salt Lake City has announced the obtaining of a contract for exploration of three major Dominican Republic mining properties.

The three mineral properties cover approximately 140,000 acres. They contain potential copper deposits where preliminary examinations have indicated substantial tonnages assaying over 4 per cent copper.

Boise Cascade To Test New Housing Components In Marin

Sometime this month or next, manufactured housing will come to Marin when Boise Cascade Building Co. puts to the price test, the use of preconstructed housing components, as opposed to conventional construction on the site, starting from scratch.

The test will be made at Boise Cascade's Parkwood subdivision in San Marin, Novato. Here the prefabricated components will be assembled on a new type of steel foundation, using a series of perimeter jacks which adjust to variances in the ground.

Components will be preconstructed by IDACO Lumber Co. in Healdsburg in approximately 26 panels, with windows included and roof tresses, all to be shipped to San Marin by trucks. It is believed that the assembly of both walls and roof can be done in a day.

A similar test will also be made at a Boise Cascade subdivision in Union City in the East Bay, with the assembly on a cement slab. With the added use of complete preconstructed kitchens and bathrooms in future assembles, both Boise Cascade and IDACO feel that the price barrier in home construction may finally be broken.

ROBERT W. MAIER of Kent Woodlands has joined Soyster and Ohrenschall, Inc., package design firm, as executive vice-president. He was previously executive vice-president of Honig-Cooper and Harrington and before that handled domestic and international product and marketing management assignments with Lever Brothers.

THE PENNEY STORY

By ROBERTA NASH

Many women tell me things like, "I was just coming in to buy some underwear," (or shirts, or sheets, or kids' clothes), "and saw your dress department and, well, I was amazed. I bought a lovely dress for much less than I usually pay at ....."

Do women tell their friends about their "discoveries" at Penney's? More and more do. Today's women don't need the reassurance of a fancy label and a fancy price. In fact, I think a Penney dress is becoming a kind of status symbol.

THE LOOK YOU WANT

THE PENNEY STORY

How does Penney's do it?

By ROBERTA NASH

I put the question to a Penney manager: "The answer may sound too simple. (1) We buy only first quality goods. (2) We buy them at lowest possible prices. (3) We make only a reasonable profit.

"But the real trick is in knowing how. Our buyers are acknowledged the very best in the business. We are known as the world's thriftiest storekeepers. And our ironclad policy is to pass the savings on to our customers."
